$100,000 TEMPLE FOR MASONS HERE

Growth of the Fraternity Makes New Home Imperative

LARGE AUDITORIUM

Leading Members of Organization Make Plans for New Home

A $100,000 Masonic Temple is the latest possibility for Glendale. So rapidly has this order grown during the past few months that to take care of its members in an adequate manner it is believed by many to be absolutely imperative that a large, exclusive Masonic home be constructed.

For the past few days this grand new Masonic Temple has been under consideration by a number of the leading members of the Glendale lodge of the fraternity. So favorably was the proposition received by those who were approached on the subject that it is considered by some absolutely certain that such a building will be erected within a reasonable length of time.

According to tentative plans the proposed structure will be made entirely of steel and concrete, the idea being to make this one of the finest buildings in Glendale. The building will be used entirely for Masonic activities. Proposed plans call for a structure consisting of two stories and a daylight basement. The main floor, it is understood, will be taken up by an immense lobby, which will be luxuriously furnished and equipped with many easy chairs, etc. In fact, this lobby will be a place where a visiting as well as a resident member of the fraternity

PLANS ANNOUNCED FOR DINNER OF THE FORUM

Dr. Bird of Occidental College Will Make Address

First plans of the second forum dinner of the chamber of commerce, to be held in the assembly room of the chamber, were announced at the weekly luncheon and meeting of the board of directors of the organization by J. M. Rhoades, secretary of the organization, when he announced that Dr. R. D. Bird, president of Occidental college, had been secured as speaker of the evening. He will talk on "Cooperation."

In addition to the talk by Dr. Bird, who is rated as one of the most able speakers in Southern California, several other speakers have been arranged for, and a good additional program will be provided, details of which will be published later.

The directors of the organization were urged to attend this forum dinner. The first forum meeting was held on the night of February 2, when the Citizens building and the new quarters of the chamber of commerce were formally opened and dedicated. The forum dinner on the night of February 16 will be for directors and their wives.

"YOU ARE ROTTEN" FILM STAR TELLS CALIFORNIA CLUB

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 8.—A different picture of Hollywood and the movie world in general was laid before San Francisco today by Hobart Bosworth and Louise Lovely, stars of the first magnitude.

They hotly denied that life behind the screens in filmdom is one long orgy.

"You who comprise the public think that we of the motion picture world are rotten," Bosworth fairly shouted at the members of the California club, whom he was addressing. "We know you are. We know that you are rotten, for we know the appeal you demand of us. You won't come to the theatre to see anything but pictures that reek with sex appeal!"

"All we hear of such things is what we read in the newspapers," Louise Lovely declared in discussing reported transgressions of the movie folk. "We are just folks, like anyone else, and such things are as much of a shock to us as to those not in the profession."

Nothing Is New Says James W. Foley With Reason for Assertion

Nothing is new. James W. Foley makes this assertion tonight in "The Listening Post" and he tells you why. He says that life, work, death, play, taxes or war are not new, that the eternal spirt of life and struggle remain the same and consequently there is nothing new. You will read what he has to offer this evening with interest... Turn to "The Listening Post."

Henry James in his comments on the news of the day says that nobody in the world knows more about electricity than Dr. Charles Steinmets and discusses the statement of the learned man that the age of electricity is just beginning.

A better means than work for preventing crime has not been discovered up to date, according to Dr. Frank Crane, in his article on "Does Poverty Cause Crime?"

Altogether the editorial page of this newspaper is far above the average... Men of intelligence write its editorials, its features, its paragraphs and you have at your supper table a world of information that is worth-while.

STOREKEEPER HELD UP AND ROBBED

Short Change Swindler Draws Revolver When Detected

An old short-change game was attempted in Glendale again yesterday. Not only attempted but was successful. Mr. Douglas, who operates a stroe at 806 San Fernando road, reported to the police that two men came into his store and after making a 10-cent purchase proffered a $10 bill in payment. They were given their change and left the store. In a few minutes they returned and said that they had found a dollar in their pocket. They asked that the $10 bill be returned and the dollar be accepted. This was agreed to by Mr. Douglas. When the change was returned to him Mr. Douglas counted the change before giving up the $10 bill and found that it was short $4. He refused to return the bill and one of the men drew a gun. He got the bill.

It was also reported to the police that the men had attempted the same trick at another store in the vicinity but had failed.

RAINFALL RECORD

T. W. Preston, official weather observer of Glendale, reports that the rainfall of the past 24 hours totals 1.06 inches, bringing the total for the season to 21.99 inches as compared with 7.48 inches last year at this time.

Ohio's Oldest Woman Reads Bible Without Her Glasses

Mrs Elizabeth Stephens

Ohio's oldest woman, Mrs. Elizabeth Stephens, of Cincinnati, recently celebrated her 100th birthday. She does not believe in unlucky thirteens and other superstitions, but sticks firmly to the teachings of her well-worn Bible, which she reads daily without the aid of glasses. She insists also upon making her own bed and eats regularly with other members of the family. She came to Cincinnati 97 years ago, floating down the Ohio river, with her parents, in a crude houseboat.

BLAZING VESSEL RIDES FORTY-MILE ATLANTIC GALE

"Jinx" Transport Northern Pacific Ends Unlucky Career

NEW YORK, Feb. 8.—The former United States transport Northern Pacific which left Hoboken for Chester, Pa., to be re-conditioned for the Admiral Line, was afire and sinking early today off the Jersey coast. The crew was rescued by vessels which answered S. O. S. signals.

A 40-mile gale was blowing about the doomed vessel this morning and she was afire from stem to stern. The ship was drifting southeastward before the gale and it was impossible to board her.

The Northern Pacific was known as a "jinx" ship. In April, 1915, she was caught and buffeted in a storm off the Pacific coast which imperiled her 150 passengers. As a transport she went ashore off Fire Island while bringing troops from France and it was several days before some of the seriously wounded soldiers with their nurses could be taken off. The Northern Pacific was built as a passenger express for the Spokane, Portland and Seattle railroad.

COUNCILMEN VIEW WILLITE PAVING

Visit San Pedro to Inspect Surfacing of Streets There

Mayor Spencer Robinson, Councilman Davis and City Manager William Reeves spent Tuesday afternoon at Nigger Slue, on the Harbor boulevard near San Pedro, inspecting the Willite paving that has been installed there with the prospect of possibly recommending it for paving work in Glendale. This paving has been used with success in many eastern and southern cities and is being installed by many cities in Southern California. These cities are finding that this form of paving can be installed at a great saving to the taxpayers.

City Manager Reeves says that the outstanding features of the paving composition is the economy offered the taxpayers and the hard usage that it will stand. According to Mr. Reeves who is an engineer of ability, Willite is the only form of paving in which "blow" sand can be used with satisfaction. "Blow" sand is sand that has been dribed about by the winds until it is so fine that it will go through a 100 mesh screen. This sand in any other paving has proven unsuccessful because it will not hold. The Willite system has utilized this and in the utilization has eliminated the expense of hauling in sand from outside communities. "Blow" sand can be found in any part of California. Through a process of mixing the asphalt with sulphate of copper the chief objection to asphalt roads has been removed. This objection is the fact that asphalt will become soft in extremely hot weather and heavy traffic will cut it up.

According to Mr. Reeves another strong point in favor of the Willite paving composition is the fact that it is highly recommended by the cheif engineer of the state highway commission.

FREEDOM OF FILIPINOS IS DANGEROUS

So Head of Southern Branch U. of C. Declares

HE URGES A DELAY

Glendale Teachers Hea Dr. E. C. Moore at Tuesday Club

That Glendale teachers might have opportunity to hear the address by Dr. E. C. Moore, president of the southern branch of the University of California, delivered before the Tuesday Afternoon club at its open forum meeting Tuesday afternoon, the regular session did not open until 3:30.

A social hour was enjoyed by members before that time, when Mrs. Summerill gave a short talk concerning corn products, which was followed by the serving of tea and cake, in which corn syrup, or Karo, corn oil shortening, or Mazola, and a flour in which corn starch was combined, were served by her in cooperation with the hospitality committee, headed on this occasion by Mrs. Archer.

Dr. Moore's talk was on the pan-educational conference which he attended as a delegate from the United States last summer, in Honolulu. He prefaced his talk with a brief history of our relations with the Hawaiians, through the work begun by New England missionaries in 1820, who taught the natives many things besides religion and laid the foundations of the school system in the islands. Incidentally, he mentioned the things the Hawaiians had taught the missionaries in the way of gentleness and kindly relations.

He spoke of President Dean of the University of Hawaii and his wonderful gift in the perfection of a cure for leprosy made from an Indian plant long known as an antidote for the disease, but containing elements which destroyed the digestive tract, which have now been eliminated.

He dwelt on the many nationalities represented in the islands, who have learned to live in peace and amity, and because of this fact a leader suggested that Hawaii, standing as it does at the crossroads of the Pacific, should take the initiative in bringing together in understanding the peoples who live on the shores of the Pacific, continental and otherwise. It was first organized as "The Hands Around the Pacific Club," but afterwards changed to the Pan-Pacific Union, with headquarters in Honolulu. It is supported by all the governments having territory bordering the Pacific — China, Japan, Australia, New Zealand, United States of America and the territorial government of Hawaii. A Pan-Pacific scientific conference

MURDERED MOVIE DIRECTOR'S LOVE LETTERS FOUND

Meanwhile Police Are Baffled by Mystery of Killing

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 8.—An anonymous letter, written in code on stationery of the Hotel Alexandria, and expressing passionate affection for William D. Taylor, murdered film director, was the latest addition to the numerous articles collected by the police reflecting various episodes of the dead man's past. The letter follows:

"What shall I call you you wonderful man. You are standing on the lot, the idol of an adoring company. You have just come over and put your coat on my chair.

"I want to go away with you, up in the hills or anywhere, just so we'd be alone —all alone. In a beautiful little woodland lodge you'd be cook (as I can only make tea) and fetch the water and build the fire.

"Wouldn't it be glorious to sit in a big, comfy couch by a cozy, warm fire, with the wind whistling outside, trying to harmonize with the faint, sweet strains of music coming from our Victrola? And then you'd have to get up and take off the record. Of course I don't mean that, dear. Did you really suppose I intended you to take care of me like a baby?

"Oh, no, for this is my part. I'd sweep and dust (they make the sweetest little dust caps, you know), and tie fresh ribbons on the snowy-white curtains and feed the birds and fix the flowers and, oh, yes, set the table and help you wash the dishes and then

BETTY MARSH CHANGES HER ASSAULT TALE

Girl Who Was Found Injured Here Charges Attack

LEAPED FROM AUTO

Police Search for Three Men Who Held Her Prisoner

Betty Marsh, mystery girl, found lying by the road at Colorado avenue and Verdugo road on Monday night by Arthur Rice and E. B. Rust changed her story today and gave an entirely different version of circumstances that led up to her being found by the road. She said that she had jumped from a machine in which she was riding with three men when the attentions paid her by one of the party became objectionable to her.

When first questioned by police officers the girl said that she had run away from her home in Los Angeles because of trouble over a ring that, according to her story, the lady with whom she lived was trying to take away from her. She said that she had walked to Glendale and had been struck by a machine.

This morning she told Chief of Police Martin and others that she had started to run away from her home in Los Angeles and that she met three men driving a large car who offered to help her. She said that they would take her part of the way on her trip to her old home in Kansas. She got in the car, which was driven by the elder of the trio and the trip was started. The elder man drove the car, one of the young men sat in front and the other in the rear with her. They left Los Angeles and the young man who was seated in the rear with her started to force his attentions upon her. He persisted and according to her story, when the machine slowed down to cross the intersection of Glendale avenue and Verdugo road she jumped to the ground. It was in jumping that she received the injuries for which she was taken to the Glendale sanitarium and hospital.

The girl has been reticent about giving the authorities any information regarding herself or her people. Tuesday night she told Dr. Kaemmerling, who has been attending her that she lived at 1235 Temple street in Los Angeles. This was investigated and Chief of Police Martin says that the address is false. This morning she gave Chief Martin another address which she said was her true address. This will be investigated today.

According to hospital attaches the girl's injuries are not serious. She was bruised from her leap to the ground and her nerves are suffering from the shock of her experience.

BUS HEARING IS TENTATIVELY SET

Board May Hold it Tomorrow or Monday

According to C. D. Gulick, Henry Osborne, Jr., of the board of public utilities of the city of Los Angeles has notified him that the application of the city of Glendale for permit to operate a municipal bus line will receive a hearing either Thursday or Monday. The board was indefinite.

Plans are going ahead by Mr. Gulick, consulting traffic expert of the city, and members of the city administration for the installing of such a service in the event that the people of the city want such service. They do not contemplate any opposition from the board of public utilities in the matter of granting the permit.

In order to gain the sentiment of the people of Glendale regarding the calling of a bond election for funds to operate a bus line, a straw vote is being taken of all the people in Glendale to learn their wishes. In another section of this paper appears a ballot, to be marked by the individual as to whether or not he favors a bus line with a six-minute service and a greatly reduced fare, and if he is willing for the city to call an election for the floating of bonds in the sum of $125,000 or less to finance the proposition.

According to Mr. Gulick the bus service can be installed for approximately $100,000, but the amount $125,000 as named in the tentative bond proposal is to care for additional expense in the event the city officials find that better service can be given the public by the installation of higher-priced equipment.

Mr. Gulick states that such a bus line as is proposed for the city can be operated and declare a dividend of not less than 8 per cent for the first year.

C. OF C. BACKS DR. RUSSELL'S COLLEGE PLAN

Directors Approve Idea of Securing University Unit

SEEK RECOGNITION

Would Render it Unnecessary to Go North for Courses

A communication from Dr. Jessie A. Russell, chairman, and fellow-workers of the civics committee of the chamber of commerce, was read to the board of directors of that organization yesterday, asking them to endorse a plan to secure a complete college to be a branch of the University of California for the southern part of the state. The plan was unanimously endorsed by that body.

The communication stated that the greater portion of the college students from Southern California preferred taking one of the courses offered by the state university. While the university has a branch in Los Angeles, many of the courses that are offered at the main college in Berkeley are not included in the courses at the southern branch. A student who desires to take these courses is forced either to go to Berkeley or to attend one of the other colleges of Southern California.

The plan of the civics committee was heartily endorsed by the board of directors and it is the opinion of that body that the committee will go ahead with the proposition and work out some method whereby Southern California can secure a full University of California course in Los Angeles. This will no doubt be accomplished with the assistance of the chambers of

CASA VERDUGO IS INVITED INTO GLENDALE

Chamber of Commerce Appoints Committee to Convey Invitation

Plans are afoot to annex Casa Verdugo to Glendale. This was announced Tuesday at the weekly meeting of the chamber of commerce directors by E. F. Sanders, assistant secretary of the chamber. Mr. Sanders stated that he has been informed by several of the leading citizens of Casa Verdugo that it was their opinion that if the Glendale chamber of commerce extended an invitation to the people of the district, they would annex to this city.

The Methodist church of Casa Verdugo is planning to hold a patriotic program on Sunday night. An invitation has been extended to the mayor and city council of Glendale and the directors of the chamber of commerce to attend this meeting. An intimation that attendance at this meeting would go a long way toward effecting the annexation of the district, was made.

It was moved by Peter L. Ferry that the Glendale chamber of commerce extend the people of Casa Verdugo an invitation to annex to Glendale. This was carried, and a delegation will attend the meeting at the Methodist church on Sunday night, in company with the city councilmen and mayor. The written invitation to annex may be seconded by a verbal one at the meeting.

K OF P WILL MARK BIRTHDAY

The regular business of the Knights of Pythias lodge was held in the lodge rooms, corner Park avenue and Brand boulevard, last night. Notwithstanding the rain this session was well attended and considerable business was transacted. Arrangements were made for the celebration of the 58th anniversary of the Knights of Pythias lodge. This will be an open meeting and there will be music, games recitations and dancing.

Announcement was made of the Sunrise ceremonial that will be held sometime during the month of May, the place to be announced later.

It was reported that the Pythian outpost in Cajon would be ready for occupancy about August 1st next.

RAIN PREVENTS FOOTHILL MEETING

Because of the rain Monday night not enough members to make a quorum appeared at the home of E. H. Botsford for the meeting of the Foothill Improvement Association. It was therefore postponed until a later date.

Mr. Botsford reports that the sand on the roadway washed down by two previous storms which made the thoroughfare almost impassable, has been cleared away and a ditch has been opened up which he hopes will carry the sand down onto the vineyard instead of into the highway.

The association is looking forward to the erection of a Grand View school house where its meetings can be held because the organization is so large it is an embarrassment to entertain at a private home.

THURSDAY CLUB HAS BIRTHDAY

Last Saturday evening Mrs. H. L. Terry opened her beautiful home at the corner of Windermere and Hill avenues for the third birthday celebration of the Thursday Morning Music club, of which she is a member. The evening was devoted to the singing of songs by American composers, the plantation melodies of Stephen Foster, the modern compositions, based on Indian themes and folklore, of Charles Wakefield Cadman, and others. It was a delightful social occasion as well, each member having been privileged to invite three guests. Refreshments were served at the close of the entertainment.

HIGH SCHOOL GIRLS ORGANIZE

Now the girls of high school age in Eagle Rock are going to organize for some fun, and Betty Creswell, daughter of Mrs. T. T. Creswell, 128 East Eagle avenue, will tell them all about it. Her telephone number is Garvanza 643. It is rumored that the organization will be called the Girls' Reserve, and that house parties, picnics, hikes, even camping out, will be on the program of enjoyment.

RAY CRAFT SHOP AT EAGLE ROCK

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Rees announce that they have established the Raycraft Shop in the rear of 108 East Colorado boulevard and are ready to do all kinds of up-to-date printing. They have a large Chandler & Price press, and can give sterling service. Later on they will devote a good deal of attention to their card business. This will be pleasant news to the many residents of Eagle Rock who have admired the beautiful Christmas, New Year, Easter and birthday cards whose sentiments were written and illustrated by Mrs. Rees, her husband doing the artistic printing. Mrs. Rees' talent first became known during the world war, when she wrote and illustrated a unique weekly paper of mingled news and nonsense and sent it to her only son in the trenches of France. It was passed down the line of company after company until it was worn to tatters.

MRS. HENSLEY TO ENTERTAIN

Mrs. C. M. Hensley and Mrs. C. W. Hunt will entertain the Young Matrons' club of the Congregational church on Wednesday, at the home of Mrs. A. C. Fisk, 203 North Castle avenue.

EAGLE ROCK FOLKS CAUGHT IN STORM ARE MISSING

Rescuers Fail to Locate Walter B. Brown's Party

Relatives and friends of Walter B. Brown, his wife and two children, who motored two weeks ago to their almond ranch in a canyon leading from Antelope valley, two and one-half miles from Neenach, are greatly worried over the absence of any word from them and the failure of rescuing parties from Los Angeles to break through the snowdrifts between Lancaster and Neenach. It was their intention to remain only a few days and no provision was made for such a stay. A brother, Herbert Brown, lives at the ranch, but there is no certainty as to the amount of supplies he may have had on hand. It is also possible that the family may have started home and been caught by the storm somewhere en route, with little prospect of relief in that sparsely settled region, in which event the worst may have occurred.

The relatives are striving to look on the right side, but the suspense is racking. They expect to get news of some kind soon now, as the road was opened yesterday as far as Neenach. The canyon road is extremely rought. There are six of the Brown brothers, five of whom live in Eagle Rock. J. B. Brown is the leading member of a prominent real estate firm in this city. The suspense of Mrs. Fred Brown, who lives on Townsend avenue, is two-fold, for there is a double relationship, her sister being the wife of Walter Brown. As construction foreman several years for the Edwards & Wildey Co., and later as an independent builder, Mr. Brown has built more houses in Eagle Rock than any other contractor, more than 300 in number.

SEWING MACHINES AT EAGLE ROCK

EAGLE ROCK, Feb. 8.—The Singer Sewing Machine company through its agent, Mr. Wheeler, has leased one of the Roath stores on South Castle avenue, for five years. They will conduct a general sewing machine sales agency. J. M. Brown & Co., which has charge of leasing the stores, states there is an unusual demand for small stores in Eagle Rock.

The Brown company also reports leasing one of the W. G. Gill stores at 112 East Colorado boulevard to the Chaffee company, which will conduct a general grocery and market.

'MIND OF NATION' SERMON AT EAGLE ROCK CHURCH

Dr. Isaac's Lecture Is Well Attended on Sunday

Every seat in the Congregational church was filed Sunday evening to hear Rev. E. Morgan Isaac's lecture entitled, "The Mind of a Nation," which was postponed last Sunday night on account of the severe storm. It was preceded by two beautiful anthems rendered by the choir, with Mrs. Paul Elderkin, Mrs. Albert Westmoreland, and Miss Dorothy Ledden, soloists.

"Little has been said or written on this subject," began the pastor, "but the nation should be studied along the standpoint of an individual. It is an individual, with a head and body. Regarding it in this way, we have a national consciousness, all history is a register of it, in every line of thought and endeavor. Psychologists tell us we carry some of the consciousness of our ancestors within us; this pertains also to our nation, a conglomerate mass from all parts of the earth. We wonder at the mind of this great mass, made up of people who have had the peculiar training of their native country and possess their own peculiar ideas.

"The nation has to have a brain—men who have studied, searched, and thought. There must be more than consciousness, something that will electrify people with the knowledge that we are surrounded by eternal power. There must be the spirituality in a nation that will enable it to unfold from within. We must live on the inside, not the outside of things. Compassion is a wonderful word, packed with sympathy, love and all kindred sentiments, and the nation must have it. The tyranny of might, beginning with the aggressiveness of boyhood, is in nations. Mind dominates, and if a man or a nation thinks might is right, resultant acts will express the same idea. A nation cannot live on terms of peace when thinking and talking of war."

Rev. Isaac then severely scored the thought of people and nations with regard to war and strikingly illustrated the tremendous expense of one year's preparation for war, taking the year of 1920. It would take a man earning five dollars a day over 700,000 years, he declared, to earn as much money as was expended by the United States to kill people in that year. Young men and women to the number of 320,750 could have been sent through college with the amount. In scathing language, he spoke of the four years' conflict as "the worst of all hells," not caused by God, but by the thought of mankind, since thoughts are things. "Idealists," he continued, "do not think in mathematical terms, they are building, with their thoughts. All men are brothers and in these days no one nation can hold itself aloof from others. Jesus taught us that there is a great brotherhood of human kind. He was the greatest of idealists. What is democracy? It is not external, for it makes men good and that can not be done by law. It is an inner concept of every man's freedom. When women universally use their right of franchise, they will become the saviors of the world. Men demand war, many of them in order to make fortunes, but if women do their duty they can stop the wars of the world."

Citing the bankruptcy and other bad conditions of European countries at the present time, the speaker declared that unless there is a change of thought, the worst of all wars will surely come, and that nothing today needs the attention that this subject does.

SILVER TEA IN GUILD

At the weekly meeting of the Women's Guild of St. Barnabas Episcopal church last Wednesday, in the home of Mrs. Raymond W. Hough, very satisfactory work was accomplished and it was decided to have a silver tea this week Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Harry S. Bourne, corner Ellenwood drive and Hill avenue. Any one interested is cordially invited, whether a member of the Episcopal church or not.

EAGLE ROCK HOLDS EXERCISES FOR GRADUATES

28 Diplomas Are Awarded to Candidates for High School

The seating capacity of the Central school auditorium (a little over 500) was taxed on the occasion of the second mid-year graduating exercises of the grammar school last Friday evening, when a class of 28 received diplomas and were pronounced ready to enter the Union high school in Glendale. It is expected that there will be at least 60 graduates in June. Indicating the growth of Eagle Rock during the past year, the number of mid-winter graduates has more than doubled and at the last commencement there were only 35.

When the curtains concealing the stage were rolled back, a pretty picture was revealed. On one side stood the girls of the class uniformly dressed in white middy blouses and kilted skirts, with black sailor ties and hair bows. On the other side stood the boys in their Sunday suits. Rev. Remsen Dubois Bird, D. D., president of Occidental College, Mrs. Alice T. Dirks, president of the board of school trustees, and E. E. Harwood, district superintendent of the schools, occupied seats at each side of the foreground.

Rev. John Hedley, pastor of the Methodist church, gave a stirring and devout invocation. The graduating program was opened by the school orchestra, a new feature of the curriculum, under the efficient direction of Miss Laura Mattingly, the teacher of music, who also led the class songs. The execution of the young musicians in their three instrumental numbers was such as to give the audience much pleasure and won enthusiastic applause. "Voices of the Woods," by Rubinstein, and "Out in the Fields," by Carrie Jacobs Bond, were well rendered by the boys and girls of the class. Mary Barbara Taylor, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Hartley Taylor, played Franz Drdla's "Souvenir" charmingly on the violin. The address of the evening was given by Dr. Bird, who is always an impassioned, convincing speaker. He began by saying, "This is a great day and night, and I have been getting the thrill of it while sitting here listening to the music. These children have reached the time when they are beginning to dream of what they are going to do." He proceeded to give them some of the secrets of success and defined success as fundamental happiness. "Wealth or poverty have nothing to do with it. The secret is something else—true ideas, fixed firmly in the fabric of the soul. The first thing one must get into the soul is the fact that there is a god who knows and directs all things, loves us, and is ever just. To be successful one must know that God is the loving preserver. Clothe these right ideas with the right disposition of kindness and truth, and then will come the right desires. One must have in addition some one thing which he wishes to attain and to which he is devoted. True happiness comes in service. Do the work that is yours, with your whole heart, for the good of the world."

Mrs. Dirks, in presenting the diplomas, gave the class thoughtful advice, combined with her congratulations. She stated that 648 pupils are now enrolled in the school and that, although additional rooms have just been built, it will be necessary to have more next fall, in order to avoid the unsatisfactory half-day sessions. She asked the people present to think about this coming need, talk about it, and urge the provision of enlarged accommodations. At the time the contracts were made for the rooms just constructed the school fund was bonded to the limit, but now, with the increased population, there is already an added bonded capacity of between $17,000 and $18,000.

On Thursday afternoon the graduating class gave the play, "Julius Caesar," from the eighth grade reader, before a full house. They were trained by Mrs. Annie E. Enman, the English teacher, and the performance was highly creditable.

Class Roll—Beulah Elice Carpenter, Radcliffe Charles Clausen, Velma Ruby Covington, Onis Arline Danielson, Douglas Angus Depew, Walter Linneous Dickey, Mary Elizabeth Ducker, Jack Elie Emerson, Ora Fyrn Feaster, Hazel Patricia Grant, Eubenia Warburton Henry, Ruby Louise LeClere, Chas. Raney Lundie, Isabelle Myrl Miller, Marjorie Elizabeth Morris, Ruth Irene Newhouse, Herbert Victor Nootbaar, Louis Grigsby Norton, Wayne Painter, John Hettler Parker, Adeline Proelss, Catherine Cutler Shedd, Stella Laura Statia, Gene Streit, Mary Barbara Taylor, Raymond Seeley Temple, and Vaughn Wejen.

ILLINOIS SETTLERS AT EAGLE ROCK

All the way from Ilinois, two automobiles filled with prospective settlers in Southern California, arrived in Eagle Rock on Saturday. One contained Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Goodwin, Fred Watkins, and H. P. Cammack, the other, Mr. and Mrs. Glen Shields, and their three children. Mr. Watkins is an uncle of Mrs. W. J. Roach of 153 North Royal drive, with whom his party will remain until they locate.

JOE THOMAS HERE FOR SPEEDWAY CONTEST

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 6.—Joe Thomas, the popular racing driver, has returned to Los Angeles to prepare for the coming 250-mile race scheduled for the Los Angeles speedway February 22. The injury which threatened to keep Thomas out of the coming speed classic has completely healed and he will be out on the course practicing within another day or two.

Thomas' car is in excellent condition, having been completely gone over by his mechanics while he was recovering from the injury to his hand, and, according to no less an authority than the veteran Earl Cooper. Joe's car is as fast as any car in America today.

A slight scratch on Thomas' hand became infected when nervous indigestion poisoned his system. It was feared for a time he would lose his arm; but after a hard fight his physicians saved his arm and started his injury to rapid recovery.

Joe caused a setback, though, when he drove at Cotati and Los Angeles against his doctor's orders, driving more than half the race on both courses, with one hand. After the last contest, however, Thomas took a rest and has allowed his hand to heal so that he is now ready to do battle with the speed kings of America and with the great Bordino as well, in the coming speedway meet.

CARL HESS SOUGHT

The sympathy of Eagle Rock people has been aroused by the unfortunate situation of one Emil Hess, who recently arrived from Switzerland expecting to join his uncle, Carl Hess, in El Centro. On going to that city he learned that Carl Hess was in Eagle Rock, visiting friends, and he is now trying to locate him there. Any person having information of the whereabouts of Carl Hess is requested to call at 128 Fairmont avenue, Eagle Rock, or to telephone Mrs. Nair, Garvanza 97. Emil Hess is stranded financially and was obliged to leave his wife at an El Centro hotel with very little money in her possession. He is therefore in desperate need of communicating with the uncle mentioned.

TRUMANS HAVE MANY GUESTS

Guests of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Truman, at 128 Ellenwood drive, are Mr. and Mrs. George Truman, Mr. Truman's brother and wife, and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Lynes, of Hamilton, Canada. Mrs. Lynes is Mrs. George Truman's twin sister. They will remain until some time in April.

Frank Truman, Eagle Rock's veteran barber, who has for some months found it necessary to have an assistant and use two chairs in his shop, has just added a third one and may increase the number to five in a week or two.

CONSOLIDATION OF DISTRICTS IS UNLIKELY

Tujunga-Sunland School Districts Not to Unite Is Belief

TUJUNGA, Feb. 8.—Over-riding the recommendation of County Superintendent of Schools Mark Keppel, residents of Tujunga and Sunland have apparently turned down consolidation of the two school districts. A joint committee to effect consolidation was appointed at a recent meeting of the board of supervisors with members of the two school boards and residents of the districts. Petitions favoring consolidation were prepared by this committee to be circulated for the signatures of a majority of the heads of families in the districts. These petitions failed to get the required number of signers while opposition petitions were quickly filed.

Proponents of the plan considered uniting in the building of a large school in the central part of the proposed district on land already owned by the Tujunga school board, to be used in addition to the present buildings, a means of eliminating the greatly over-crowded condition which prevails in the school this year.

Those in opposition feared abandonment of the present sites and advised letting the districts remain as they are.

There has been some dissatisfaction in the Sunland district this year, many parents sending their children to the Tujunga school. In fact of the greatly increased attendance the Tujunga school board has been forced to build three bungalows and purchase more land.

As the proportionment of school funds from both county and state is based upon attendance of the preceding year, it is believed that present conditions will be remedied next year, owing to the greatly increased attendance this year over that of last year.

At a meeting of the Verdugo Hills Business Men's Association held Monday night the matter of attracting manufacturers to Tujunga was discussed. Although many new businesses are being established here, few of them manufacture anything or employ any great number of workers. It is felt that in establishing a city Tujunga must look to the industrial as well as to the purely residential side.

DR. BLACK HIT BY CAR

Dr. Stephen Black, who resides on Kenneth road near Grand avenue, while walking on a narrow street was run into and knocked down by a Ford auto which he failed to observe because of the darkness of the night. The contained three young men and was traveling at a moderate rate. They took ahe doctor home and did everything possible for his comfort. He is confined to his bed and is suffering from bruises but is thought not to be seriously hurt.

The small boy in the omnibus was wiggling with impatience. He was clearly bursting with important information and nobody would pay him the slightest attention.

He pulled at his mother's handbang—and went on talking to his aunt. He kicked his feet against her skirts; he jogged her elbow.

"Well, what is it?" she said at last.

"Mother, all the boys at our school have got colds!"

LEGION NEWS

If more evidence is necessary to prove that disabled veterans of the World War in training under the U. S. Veterans' bureau are making good, an examination of the work done by the 162 ex-service men in the University of Arizona at Tucson will substantiate the fact without doubt. According to the report of E. W. Brewer, regional assistant, 8 per cent of the student body of the University of Arizona failed last semester, but only 6 per cent of the bureau beneficiaries failed.

That, however, is only a small portion of the story for it is recognized by all that the mere book work at a university is only a part of the profits derived from a college course. The social life and opportunities for leadership offered in many activities, if properly entered into, contribute a valuable share in the development of character and preparation of life's duties.

Disabled veterans have taken a prominent lead in almost every university activity. George K. York is editor-in-chief of "Desert," the college annual and is also on the staff of the "Wildcat," a weekly publication. Edward Cusick is assistant football coach. F. J. Kelly is president of the Senior class. T. E. Walden is president of the Masonic club and also the Associated Federation Students' club. Donald C. Brooks and Chas. E. Giffert have been elected to the House of Representatives of the student body. Wm. O. Carnes is trainer of the varsity football team. A. F. Sutherland is advertising manager of the "Wildcat." J. H. McGibdeny is director of the college band and college orchestra. K. T. Palmer is on the university debating team. Belford Crewes is part time instructor in economics.

BORAH TO ATTACK BONUS

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8.—The Republican party's soldier bonus plan will be denounced in the senate by Senator Borah, Idaho, as an attempt by the party to buy control of congress in much the same way as it was alleged a single seat was bought in the Newberry case.

Borah will shortly begin a fight on the bonus plan which he intends to carry on in characteristic fashion.

S. P. INSURES CHECKED GRIPS

Installation of a new system of baggage checking and valuation whereby passengers desiring to protect themselves in event of loss of valuable baggage may do so, has been announced by E. B. Carson, general baggage agent for the Southern Pacific company.

Beginning March 1 passengers will be required to place a valuation on all baggage and a charge of 10 cents will be made for each $100 or fraction thereof over the established limit of $100. The excess value charge will be taken care of by the use of adhesive stamps placed on the passenger's baggage check.

The new plan is not compulsory in local movements within the states of California and Arizona, but does apply to all baggage moving out of these states. However, if the passenger, moving locally in these two states so desires, he may take advantage of this new ruling.

"Y" is no blackmailing letter, yet it makes pa pay.

MASONS PLAN $100,000 TEMPLE

may go and feel entirely at home and where he may pass an evening quietly and restfully. The idea will be to make this as "homey" as possible. Other features for the enjoyment of the lodge members will be located on this floor. The paraphernalia rooms and other necessary compartments will be located in the basement.

The auditorium, which will be located on the second floor, will be the crowning feature of the building. According to the proposed plans this will be by far the largest auditorium in Glendale and will have a seating capacity of between 3500 and 4000. The idea is to provide an auditorium which will be capable of accommodating any gathering that may assemble in Glendale for years to come. No expense will be spared in making this auditorium one of the finest things of its kind on the coast.

A lot to house this fine building has not yet been secured, but a number are under consideration. It is known however, that a piece of ground, centrally located, will be secured for this purpose, the aim being to assure the "temple" being in the center of activities for years to come.

Thus far, nothing definite with regard to either the purchase of the lot or the erection of the building has yet been done, but it is believed that there is more "fire" to this proposition than is generally known. Although no subscriptions have been called for, it is definitely known that some of the most prominent members of the Masonic order in Glendale have signified their willingness to aid both morally and financially in bringing this matter to a successful conclusion. There is little doubt but that a proposition of this character would have the backing of the entire valley.

Town Topics

P. E. O. Entertain—The officers of chapter C. J., P. E. O., will entertain the members of the chapter this afternoon at the home of Mrs. Roy Kent, 522 North Central avenue.

Methodist Sisters—The Sisterhood class of the First Methodist church will give a party in the church parlors Thursday afternoon. Mrs. J. P. Lampert with her able committee will have charge of the luncheon and entertainment. All members of the class are invited to be present.

St. Mark's Guild—St. Mark's Guild will meet with Mrs. Mortimer Baker, 215 West Milford street, Thursday afternoon at 2:30. This will be a social afternoon.

Doran P.-T. A.'s Meet—The Doran Parent-Teacher association is meeting this afternoon at the school.

Recently one of the dealers in intoxicants who carries on his business with some of the best people in the city, dropped in upon one of his customers and began to display his wares.

"I have some very fine Scotch, some vermouth, rye, bourbon, creme de menthe, gin, and a few quarts of champagne today," announced the bootlegger. "What can I sell you?"

"Have you any absinthe?" one of his prospective purchasers inquired.

"No, indeed," responded the bootlegger, "it's against the law to sell absinthe."

SPECIAL PLAYLET IS T. D. & L. SHOW TONIGHT

"The Cheerful Liar" Is Added to "Three Live Ghosts" Offering

Tonight and tomorrow night "The Cheerful Liar," the comedy playlet especially staged for the T. D. & L. theatre, will be presented in addition to the feature film, "Three Live Ghosts." A notable cast will be seen in its production—Warda Lamont, formerly leading woman at Belasco's Alcazar theatre, San Francisco, a very beautiful and charming actress of rare ability; Harry Kendall and William Brunton of Glendale, also will appear. This act has been secured just prior to its leaving for New York, where it will begin playing the large eastern circuits. An excellent program is offered, and is of more than especial interest. One of the surprise films of the year is "Three Live Ghosts."

Ralph Allan in describing the picture said: "Three pals—reported lost—turn up, of course at the unexpected time, and what follows will surely drive the blues away from anyone."

With a special comedy, scenic, Kinograms, George Olsene, master organist, and the comedy playlet, "The Cheerful Liar," all added attractions to the feature, offer an attractive and entertaining show at regular admissions.

FILIPINOS FREEDOM IS DANGEROUS

was held a year ago, last summer a Pan-Pacific educational conference, and next October a Pan-Pacific commercial conference will be held.

At the educational conference Dr. Moore attended, 60 to 70 delegates from many countries spent ten days together talking over ways and means of promoting peace. At that time is looked as if war was inevitable between this country and Japan, which might be precipitated at any time. Thanks to the limitation of armaments conference, that menace has been removed for at least 15 years, in Dr. Moore's opinion, but he argues, the splendid work of that body cannot be perfected unless the rising generation is educated in the principles of peace and friendly relations. "We must," he said, "destroy the desire in our hearts to make war, we must disarm and demobilize our hearts."

He paid a high tribute to some of the leaders of Japan who attended the conference, and voiced his admiration for the Korean delegate, touching on the delicate relations between Japan and Korea and the unfortunate quarrels of native Korean politicians which have rent the country. Said he:

"I came back from that experience with the conviction that our missionaries who had gone out in early days were the advance agents of civilization, for they taught the people sanitation and built schools for them, taught them respect for law and the gentler arts."

Concerning our island possessions he said:

"I think the Filipinos will have to be free because we promised them freedom and must keep our word, but I think it will be worse for them. They hope we will set them free and say, 'Go, and if you make debts we will pay them, and if you get into a quarrel we will settle it.' It would not be safe for the United States to guarantee their freedom. I would like to see it delayed until the country is dominated by a new generation which has been educated in our schools.

"China is the difficult problem in the Pacific now, and, in the opinion of some, she will be worse before she is better. Others say that China is in about the condition that Japan was 300 years ago, no real central government, but a mass of villages with no uniting head. It will have to work out its own salvation and the Washington conference has secured to China freedom to work out that salvation without being looted in the meantime.

"The great things in this world in the future are to take place on the Pacific ocean. Civilization was first developed along the rivers Nile and Euphrates. Then it passed to the Mediterranean and Adriatic. Now it is Oceanic. It has been developing along the Atlantic for a long time but in the days to come the Pacific will be the scene of the greatest development of mankind. Two-thirds of the population of the world lives in countries bordering the Pacific. We are going to have a great part in it."

REDUCED FARE FOR KNIGHTS

Announcement of reduced passenger rates of one and one half fare from all points on Southern Pacific lines in California, Oregon and Nevada to New Orleans for delegates and their families who will attend the Triennial convention, conclave of Knights Templar, to be held in New Orleans April 24 to 27 has been made by Chas. S. Fee, passenger traffic manager.

Tickets will be on sale at all regular ticket agencies from April 18 to 23 with return limit May 15.

A well-known wit remarked that it was absurd for a man to say, "With all my worldly goods I thee endow," when he had none. "For instance, when I married," he said, "I hadn't a quarter with which to endow my wife."

"But you had your brains, Bob," said his wife from across the table.

"But nobody, my dear, could say that I endowed you with these," he retorted.

commerce in the various cities of the Southland.

The following is the full text of the resolution adopted as submitted:

Inasmuch as a large percentage of the students from Southern California, attending college wish to attend the University of California, and many are deprived of that privilege because of the fact that only a branch of the university is maintained in southern California, and that a great additional and unnecessary expense and inconvenience is entailed by the necessity of going to Berkeley for the full course, your civics committee believes that as a large proportion of the taxes used for the maintenance of the university is paid by the southern portion of the state and because of the admittedly crowded conditions of the present buildings at Berkeley—that in justice to the rapidly increasing student body from southern California, a fully equipped university should be established at as early a date as possible in southern California.

We therefore request your honorable body to endorse such action.

(Signed) Dr. Jessie A. Russell, chairman. L. W. Wilson, secretary.

A SONG ON MILO WHEAT by T. W. McConnell

You ask me, friends; why really, now,
I haven't much to say;
But I am sure that Milo Wheat
Is for the best today.
Now, some things let me speak about
That you may plainly see
When folks once taste of MILO WHEAT
You'll need no other plea.
For folks who eat this food,
I'm sure you will hear say:
"For strength, health and every ill,
It's best, we know today;
We're living now on MILO WHEAT.
Our bank account will grow,
For we can have a good square meal
For three cents now, you know.
You know our days are perilous times
When all will have a test,
And they will surely want to eat
The cheapest and the best.
It will not be so very long
Till you will hear the call
For MILO WHEAT from every class,
Both rich, poor, large and small.

There is no equal to the great value of the New Series of the good

Truths in Epigram

Life comes before literature, as the material always comes before the work. The hills are full of marble before the world blossoms with statues. —Brooks (1835-1893).

There is no good in arguing with the inevitable. The only argument available with an east wind is to put on your overcoat.—Lowell (1819-1891).

SAN PEDRO HARBOR

In a sense, the harbor at San Pedro is the possession of all southern California. It is an essential asset to commerce throughout this end of the state. From San Pedro radiate carrier lines touching the ports of the world. Through it a vast productive area is linked with the markets of the Orient.

There are some far-seeing men who long have understood the potential value of the harbor. That their faith was well-founded the public now understands. Indeed, the public wonders that it was so slow to awaken to the opportunity represented by a safe and capacious harbor.

There has arisen a habit, to be observed in some city papers, of mentioning the harbor at San Pedro as "Los Angeles Harbor." This is done in such a way as to make clear the intent to ignore San Pedro. It is with San Pedro the harbor is identified. While it is a fact that San Pedro, as maps show, is a part of Los Angeles, it is so distinct a part, and has such individuality, as to have every right to expect the use of its own name in connection with the harbor. The name and the harbor belong together.

Residents of San Pedro also are becoming aware that their harbor is regarded in some official quarters as the source of political plums. They object to this. They desire it treated as a business proposition.

POOR GAS AND LITTLE OF IT

Pasadena has joined with Los Angeles in protest against the quantity and quality of gas supplied. The whole community dependent upon the same source for fuel gas has suffered much in the cold weather.

There never has been any secret as to the likelihood of this region having a touch of low temperature. To find another season as bad in this respect as the present has been, requires a search for a long way back among the records. However, the precedents show that there was no legitimate ground for being so ill prepared as to let a fall of a few degrees below usual, be an utterly overwhelming experience.

The excuse is advanced that the community has grown so fast that the preparations for furnishing gas could not keep up with it. No shivering consumer will discern merit in this excuse. Of course the community has grown, and still is growing. The process is a spectacle easily discernible to the normal senses, and certainly ought to have made appeal to the commercial instinct.

Merchants in other lines, noticing that they were to have more customers, hastened to enlarge their establishments and increase their stocks. Declining to let the community expand away from them, they have expanded with it.

The gas company is making frantic efforts to catch up with the demand. Doubtless the formal complaints, although they may seem to savor of unkindness, really are having beneficent effect.

UNEQUALLY YOKED

Time and time again has comment been made upon the marriage of youth and old age. Only in the rare, the almost unknown instance, has happiness been known to follow such a union. For youth calls to youth.

The matter is of public concern, because the marriage that leads almost with certainty to disruption, becomes a public expense, and in some measure, a threat to social integrity. When a girl marries an old man, she has placed her feet in a perilous path. At the best she may only expect a quietly submerged life, with an environment not wholesome, for it cannot be in keeping with her natural impulses and desires.

Ordinarily when a lad is married to a woman old enough to be his mother, he is nothing but a sly knave. Such marriages do not occur save when the mature, and often mentally deficient bride, has money, while the bridegroom has none. Nobody but the woman is silly enough to suppose that the husband will be faithful, or that he has the slightest intent to be faithful.

Just now Philadelphia is talking of the marriage of a widow (by grace of the law) and a Russian but a short time in this country. She is 45, he 23. She is very rich, he has nothing. There is a marriage bound to be a failure.

And it seems that in this enlightened country, there was none with authority to forbid the banns.

BOTHERSOME BOARD BILLS

Some question has arisen as to who shall meet the board bill of the recent king of Austria. It will be remembered that he ceased being king while giving his violent dissent to quitting, and was sent to the island of Maderia, an exile. The feeling was that at a place so remote he would be powerless to kick up a serious bobbery. There was no thought that he would be pleased, but only that he would be unable to manifest his displeasure in any embarrassing fashion.

It seems that the ex-monarch is permitted to live well. He has rather pretentious shelter from the storms that blow, and at a well garnished table, is assured, thus far, of three square meals daily, without the necessity of earning them. But these accomodations may not be furnished forth without money.

There are a number of peoples glad that ex-royalty is where it is, but all seem to shy at paying for his keep. The allies sent him to his distant retreat, and it would seem to be up to them to foot the bills. Considered merely as board bills, doubtless these are large, but when viewed as the price for keeping Charles from fooling around the throne, and getting Austria all stirred up, they would be reasonable even if doubled.

USING PLAIN ENGLISH

Members of a modern school of writers leaning largely to criticism, irritate the reader who understands the purpose of criticism to be an exposition of the merit or demerit of the work under consideration. To such exposition the use of plain English lends itself admirably, a fact ignored by the critics in question. They really are not writing with the object in view that ostensibly is their excuse for writing at all. Their sole effort is to employ a certain elaborate and polished obscurity. They are letting the world know, not how well or ill another has uttered himself, but with what artistry it is possible to insinuate a vague and nebulous impression of their own. They are inserting a thumb into the literary pie, but instead of holding up a plum, they pose for adulation as to their skill of extraction.

"Adventures in the Arts" by Marsden Hartley is treated in The Bookman, by Paul Rosenfeld. He is guilty of every one of the faults mentioned. One conceives him as lost in amazement at his own perspicuity. The ecstasy apparent in his phrases is delight at the deftness of the critic. He says—as Hartley is a painter also—that "the self-same glimmer of genius that makes his pigment to vibrate, and carries his dark still-lives, his regal and diabolic lilies, his rubber plants catatonic and autumnal, over the border-line of things into the fluid electric ether of art, is present, too, in the handsome incrustations of his cold splendid poetry, in the colored, clever and star-dusty passages of his essays."

Regal and diabolic lilies and rubber plants catatonic, are with difficulty grasped and appreciated as the flower of the written word.

"Stemming as a proseman one would say," continues Rosenfeld, "from Pater, Francis Thompson and Henry James, he has made the rather opulent language of his predecessors . . . more fluffily iridescent. The subject matter has been made inherently brave, more racy and naive."

At least one would have said it, and did. But Rosenfeld is not wholly pleased withal. "Oftentimes one finds one's self," he adds, "demanding a greater degree of tumescence than he has brought to his painting." This fits the literary product as well as the pigment, for similar quality marks both.

However, a diabolic lily and a few rubber plants catatonic ought to fill the yearning void well enough.

Judge Cox of Santa Ana sends violators of the eighteenth amendment to jail. This serves to save addicts of wood alcohol from going blind and morally it opens their eyes.

The plan of the chief of police of Pasadena to set bootleggers to clearing the Arroyo Seco of poison oak may possess the element of danger. The prisoners might devise some scheme to use the stuff as the basis for more moonshine.

After a man has been knocked down by his enemies his friends kick him.

Philanthropic persons should see that the poor are coaled instead of cold.

Does Poverty Cause Crime

By DR. FRANK CRANE

"Crime," says a recent apostle of unrest, "is the product of poverty."

He so reiterates what has become a well established article of faith among red propagandists.

It sounds well. Many people steal because they are hungry and commit burglary because they need the money.

But poverty is merely an incident. It is in no sense a cause of crime.

All that is necessary to see this is to look at the facts, which is the last thing in the world a heated agitator thinks of doing.

And one fact is that as a rule poor folks are as moral and as law abiding as rich folks—and more so.

For most poor people have to work for a living, and a better means than work for preventing crime has not been discovered up to date. It is more efficacious practically than religion or education. The only thing that may be more effectual is jail.

It is quite the fashion these days for the gentleman who assassinates a prime minister, kills his uncle and packs him in a trunk, robs a railway train or touches off a bomb in a crowded street, to allege that "it is society's fault," and if he does not think of this some parlor bolshevik will think of it for him.

The business of laying the blame on others for one's misdeeds is as old as Adam, who tried to lay it on his wife. And any toplofty theory of economics or politics that takes as its creed the doctrine that society is to blame, or heredity, or environment, or the law or any other existing institution, is very acceptable to them that have a mind to guile or violence.

But it is ninety-nine hundredths bosh, with just a little one-hundredth of truth in it, perhaps enough to make it plausible.

Nobody has to commit a crime. He may be strongly tempted, urged and influenced, but no power in heaven, earth or hell can compel him to do evil. And he never does it until his will has consented.

One may feel like beating up an insolent clerk, or taking other people's money wherewith to have a good time, or striking his mother-in-law, or taking an axe and smashing the piano when he runs into it in the dark, but he does not have to.

No man lies, steals, assaults or murders without the matter being first put to a vote in his inner parliament and a decision rendered to do the wrong.

Mitigating circumstances only mitigate, they do not exculpate.

The fabric of business, of society and of civilization would not survive very long if the principle were abandoned that "every man is to give an account for the deeds done in the body."

Crime is the result of a moral slump.

The central citadel of every man's or woman's life is the will to be decent, to bear the responsibilities of existence and to play the game of life's competitive struggle according to the rules. When that citadel gives way any crime is possible, and some crime is probable.

Poverty does not cause crime, nor does wealth, or passion, or temptation, or any other external force or internal fire.

The cause of crime is the soul that commits it.

THE LISTENING POST

What's new?
That's a frequent question.
You meet a friend of yours on the street.
And you ask him what's new?

Well, what is new?
Nothing at all, we might say.
Generally speaking.
For the same things are going on that have been going on for thousands of years.
As long as there has been civilization.

You get out of bed.
That's not new.
People have been getting out of bed ever since there were people at all.
It may have been a bed of boughs or grass or leaves or turf, but it was a bed nevertheless.

And you turn on the light.
And that is not new.
There has been light ever since there was a universe.
And if you didn't turn it on the dawn turned it on for you.
And perhaps you take a bath.
And that is not at all new.
Look at the old Roman baths.

There's a new murder in the papers.
That is not at all new.
There has been murder ever since the time of Adam and Cain and Abel.
Murder is as old as man.
So murder is not anything new.

The market is a little off.
Nothing new about that.
There has been a market report in one way or another ever since trading began.
And trading is as old as civilization.
So there's nothing new about the market's being off.

And the nations are making treaties.
So they have been doing for thousands of years.
At first, the meeting of chiefs or tribes with a verbal agreement to something or other.
And gradually formal agreements between kings and councils.
But there is nothing new in treaty making.

You walk down the concreted walk.
Nothing new about that.
The Romans had them, better than ours.
Some of them still surviving the lapse of the centuries.
Nothing new about a concreted road or walk.

A pope elected.
Surely not new.
The election of popes has been going on for many centuries.
The papacy is old and the elections as old as the papacy.

China again in the limelight.
Nothing new about China.
The oldest civilization in the world, with history, tradition and lineage extending back five or six or seven thousand years.
What is new?

Not men or ships or war or treaties or markets or music or art or murder or light or heat or roads or baths or houses or cities or farms or sunshine or flowers.
None of them new.
All of them old as time.

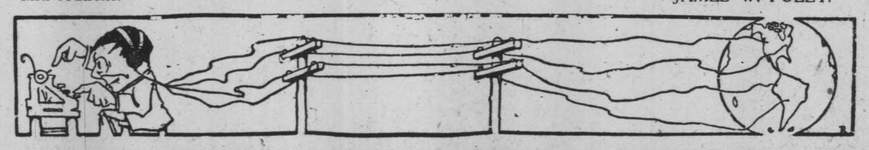
And we go to work for the day.
Nothing new about that.
We gather about and discuss current affairs.
We fret about taxes.
Nothing new about that.
The Assyrians and Babylonians and Tyrians and Caththaginians and Greeks and Romans and Egyptians did all that.

* * *

So what is new?
Again we say, nothing.
Not life. Or death. Or work. Or play.
Not government. Not taxes. Not human weakness. Not war.
Nothing is new.
The form changes.
But the eternal spirit of life and struggle remain the same.
Old as the world.

JAMES W. FOLEY.



SONGS OF THE POETS

Twilight—By Olive Custance (1874——)

Spirit of Twilight, through your folded wings
I catch a glimpse of your averted face,
And rapturous on a sudden, my soul sings
"Is not this common earth a holy place?"

Spirit of Twilight, you are like a song
That sleeps, and waits a singer—like a hymn
That God finds lovely and keeps near Him long,
Till it is choired by aureoled cherubim.

Spirit of Twilight, in the golden gloom
Of dreamland dim I sought you, and I found
A woman sitting in a silent room
Full of white flowers that moved and made no sound.

These white flowers were the thoughts you bring to all,
And the room's name is Mystery where you sit,
Woman whom we call Twilight, when night's pall
You lift across our Earth to cover it.

EASTERN POINT OF VIEW

A DEAD SOCIAL SYSTEM

[Boston Transcript]

As a result of the war, Britain is becoming a land of small holders—a change every titled personage would have declared to be impossible at New Year's day, 1914. During the four years since the armistice over 3,500,000 acres of land in England have been sold, and an appreciable acreage of this great domain is in the hands of the previous cultivators. The sale of ancestral estates has of course excited apprehension among the aristocracy. The lands have passed into the hands of tenants, who long had subsisted on them. Six dukes have between them parted with 142,954 of their paternal acres. Thirteen of lesser nobility gave up 171,050 acres. More than a quarter of a million acres more also went to the people. In most of these cases the land was first offered to its tenants, and the privilege was gladly taken, for the terms were easy. This concession was the more readily taken advantage of because the farmers had made money fast during the war.

Scotland tells a similar story, for nearly one-quarter of the whole country has changed hands. During last year over 600,000 acres were sold, involving a value of $25,000,000, bringing up the total turnover to the people since the armistice to a value of $262,500,000—at the pre-war value of the pound.

Contemporaneously with the passing of the "stately homes" in the country, the disappearance of the great town houses in London has been even more alarming for the upper classes. Devonshire House, Bath House, Landsdowne House, Grossvenor House and Apsley House—that mausoleum of dead glory—have passed or are passing out of the hereditary owners' hands. It is not enough to say that the burden of taxation makes these houses uninhabitable; the thing goes much deeper. They belong to a social system that is dead, to a period when "society," much smaller than at present, lived much more together—when two or three great houses were "open" every night and when politics and social life were closely interwoven.

Some of the war profiteers who had bought stately homes are finding the costs beyond their comfortable incomes. This, and the continuous sale which is going on, will increase the number of small holders who are making of Britain a vastly changed place—not so picturesque in its ownership, perhaps, but more solid.

JUST BETWEEN OURSELVES

By DELLA STEWART

It's really too bad that we can't make the weather to suit ourselves. There are so very few days in the calendar that suit us. It's either too hot or too cold, too windy or too still, too wet or too dry. What weather makers we would make had we the elements in charge! How we would improve on the present order!

And yet all the grumbling in the world won't change temperature one particle. It is just one more of life's immovable forces that we fight against, and lose so much of nervous force in fighting. Queer that we can't learn to be a trifle more philosophical over it. Mere weather has so very little to do with real comfort or real happiness.

It's true that we allow, not the weather but our thought of it, to make us miserable often. But that's no one's fault but our own. If we're of the mental calibre that is dependent on outside influences for contentment, it might as well be the weather as anything. We'll surely find something to be miserable over.

The only temperature that really matters, aside from that of the clinical thermometer, is that of our mentality. We can't be warm with content, or cold and stormy with its oppisite. We cannot change the weather, but we can change our way of looking at it. And that's no more than we must do concerning many of life's conditions. Why not begin?

It's a trifle childish to be so moved by outward conditions. Maturity of mind seems to presuppose a certain poise of thought, some measure of cheerful resignation and quiet acceptance of the must-bes. They're worth cultivating.

COMMENT ON DAY'S NEWS

By HENRY JAMES

A recent interview with Dr. Charles Steinmetz is of unusual interest and importance. There is nobody in the world who knows more about electricity than Steinmetz knows. He is a modest scientist, but of vast attainment. It is not too much to say of him that as a genius of the field of electric development, he ranks with any man who ever lived.

HENRY JAMES

Steinmetz says there is no occasion to be apprehensive concerning the exhaustion of the oil supply. His view that the motive power of the future will all be electric, is based on a greater knowledge than it is possible for the ordinary citizen to possess, and yet it coincides with the view of the average citizen. It does this because it seems so logical, so entirely in consonance with the growth of an extraordinary branch of human activity.

Despite the fact that much power latent in the rushing stream has been utilized, only a beginning has been made. It does not stretch the imagination to conjure up a future in which electricity may be derived so directly from the sun that even the present methods, now so wonderful in their seeming, may become antequated.

The electric age, according to Steinmetz, is not to begin. It has begun. This generation dwells in the earlier stage of it. It has been only a few years since electric current was first employed for heat, light or power. Men of middle age remember well their first glimpse of the incandescent lamp and the sputtering arc. They recall when the plan of propelling street cars by electricity was laughed at. They have faith to believe that the dreams of the scientist not only will come true, but that the ultimate triumph of the scientist may eclipse in splendor all that he has dared to dream.

"Japs Will Build Air Fleets With Savings on Navy" proclaims a headline in the Hearst papers.

Nobody is getting fooled by that sort of stuff. It represents the feeble kick of the dying dissenter. The world knows that air construction also has been limited. Japan is quite welcome to build to the limit.

In a certain civil action the contention has been set up that Jacob C. Denton is not dead.

There is a woman in state's prison for life because the man is dead, and because she killed him.

The civil action is contempt of court, and contempt of law and justice. It should be thrown out, and the persons responsible for it severely penalized. To the observer it appears in the light of an insolent indecency, not to be tolerated.

The outcome of the Arbuckle trial came as a surprise. In truth, but small attention was paid to the trial, dragging along. Virginia Rapp had been a long time dead. Interest had flagged. It is probable that most people who had given the affair any attention expected a disagreement. When the defense waived argument, and let the jury have the case, the act indicated a high confidence.

The jury stood ten to two, but the ten were in favor of conviction. There will be a third trial.

This column, almost from the beginning, has failed to touch on the Arbuckle matter. It said at first, and still affirms, that as a factor in the movie world, Arbuckle is through. He is through whatever the ultimate outcome.

WATCHING THE PARADE

By JOHN PILGRIM

I've known Tommy Weeks for two years, and all that time I thought that his wife was an invalid. Every now and then Tommy and I take lunch together, or join the Round Table and talk over business, the folly of the minister in trying to get the gospel out of the clouds and down to hardpan, the difficulty of finding a reliable bootlegger, and the latest tales from the road. You know the sort of stuff that you hear at every lunch at every commercial club.

"Come on out to the house for dinner some night, Tommy," I've said a dozen times.

"Gee," Tommy has said, with every evidence of sincerity, "I wish I could. But the Old Lady isn't feeling very well, and we're not going out at all."

Yesterday I saw Tommy's Old Lady, and if she isn't feeling very well then you couldn't lift a Waterbury watch with an electric cane. That night I commented on it—just in a friendly way, you'll understand, because I had really been hurt by Tommy's persistent refusal to take pot-luck with me—and I got the answer. Mrs. Thomas Weeks is a crab. She is a bad-tempered, selfish, silly woman. Tommy cannot accept invitations to dinner because she cannot return them.

"She will always accept an invitation," said a friend of Tommy's. "But when it comes to repaying that dinner the shoe is on the other foot."

It appears that Mrs. Thomas Weeks does not see that she has incurred any obligation when she dines with one of Tommy's friends. She refuses to play the society game fairly. If she happens not to like the lady of the house or the man of the house she refuses to have anything to do with them from that time on.

"Why should I work myself to death cooking for that woman, Thomas Weeks?" she will ask. "What is she to me? Did you hear the way she bit me off when I spoke of the glaciers in Yellowstone Park? How you could sit there and smoke and smile when you heard your wife being treated that way is more than I can understand."

So Tommy has been hermitized. Not being able to repay the dinners his friends would give him he cannot accept them. He meets his friends downtown at lunch. At night—except on the nights when he can sneak away to balance the books—he listens to the recital of that day's woes of Mrs. T. Weeks. Then they go to a picture show.

Tommy never complains. But he has to make some sort of an excuse for this tinplate wife of his. So he says she is sick.

The dark day which prevailed in New England September 6, 1881, is known as "the yellow day" on account of the brassy appearance which objects assumed. There was a strong smell of smoke and the darkness was probably caused by forest fires. Many people believed the earth was passing through the tail of a comet.

Although the Gregorian calendar is a great improvement over the Julian, which it replaced, it still involves a slight error, amounting to a day in 3323 years. It has been proposed to correct this error by making the year 4000 and all its multiples (8000, 12000, etc.) common years instead of leap years.

SPRINT KING IS HI Y HONOR GUEST

Charles Paddock, holder of ten world records for running, is to be the honor guest of the Glendale Hi Y at its banquet next Monday evening, February 13 at the First Methodist church. This is to be one of the big affairs of the year for the organization.

As the track season is just starting, the boys feel they are doubly fortunate in securing the world's greatest sprinter to talk to them at this time. It will be the fifth banquet put on by the Hi Y since school started in the fall, and Charles Paddock's coming is in line with other speakers who have addressed the boys. Harry Rimmer, holder of the world's record in the marathon race and Charles Green, the great "end" of the U. S. C. football team having been with the Hi Y on two other occasions.

All five groups of the Hi Y participate in these meetings and the boys are looking forward with a great deal of anticipation to this meeting with their hero.

MRS. ANDREWS GIVES LUNCHEON

Mrs. W. L. Andrews, a former resident of Glendale, was hostess to eight members of Sunset Canyon Bridge club last Friday at her home, 1150 Providencia street.

A delicious luncheon was served at 1 o'clock, after which guests adjourned to the spacious living room where a pleasant afternoon was spent over the bridge tables. Mrs. Andrews will entertain the remaining eight one day next week. Those present at the first section were Mesdames Roy Campbell, Harold Lovejoy, A. Fillback, W. Frazier, J. W. Watson, George Jackman and H. Herman. The ladies who will enjoy the next party are Mesdames George Wilson. A. B. Cummings, George Kirchman, Miss Clator, Mrs. Kaufman, Mrs. Youngblood, Mrs. Zice and Mrs. Beckner.

WEDNESDAY CLUB AT THEATRE PARTY

The Glendale Wednesday club will meet today in Los Angeles where they will enjoy a luncheon. In the afternoon they will attend the matinee at the Majestic theater. The guests will include Mrs. Charles Sanders, Mrs. Jack Hearnshaw, Mrs. Clotworthy, Mrs. Herbert Reed and Mrs. Emma Reed from Long Beach, Mrs. Charles Freshman, Mrs. William Gibson, Mrs. A. Muehlman, Mrs. Julia Perkins, Mrs. D. G. Roach and Mrs. Charles Glover.

TUESDAY CLUB ENTERTAINED

Mrs. Charles Glover of 414 West Myrtle street, entertained the Tuesday club yesterday afternoon at her home. Decorations throughout the house were daffodils and ferns. A very pleasant social afternoon was enjoyed. The guests included Mrs. Robert Beattie from Huntington Park, Mrs. Theodore Stassforth, Mrs. Charles Wardwell, Mrs. Louis Herzog, Mrs. George Allen, Mrs. Frances Holst, and the hostess, Mrs. Charles Glover.

R. T. W. CLASS HOLDS MEETING

The R. T. W. class of the First Baptist church had its regular monthly social meeting Tuesday at the home of Mrs. M. L. Russell, 336 Roverdale drive.

At a business session committees were appointed for the year after which a social hour was enjoyed and a hot luncheon served by the hostesses, Mrs. M. L. Russell, Mrs. Harry Chase, Mrs. Walter Stamps, and Mrs. Oren Howard. About 25 ladies were present.

MR. BAIRD ENTERTAINED ON EIGHTIETH BIRTHDAY

Saturday, February 4, marked the 80th birthday of T. M. Baird of 364 West Wilson avenue, which was very charmingly celebrated in the form of a reception to all patriotic societies and neighbors. Members of the local post of the G. A. R. were present as well as relatives and friends from Los Angeles, Pomona and Glendale. The house was beautifully decorated for the occasion with flowers and potted ferns and palms and delicious refreshments were served to the many guests, who came in to wish him many returns of the day from 1 in the afternoon until 10 in the evening.

GLENDALE MUSIC CLUB PLANS BIRTHDAY

The executive board of the Glendale Music club, at its meeting Tuesday, voted to hold the club's birthday celebration, which will occur Friday evening, February 17, at the auditorium of the Chamber of Commerce building instead of the high school, because of the fact that it will be a social affair, although the celebration will include a fine program by Freda Peycke. It will be the first good opportunity members have had to meet in a social way and get acquainted.

Mrs. Colin Cable, chairman of hospitality committee, assisted by ladies whose names will be announced later, will serve refreshments.

The board voted to appropriate $20, of which $10 would be expended for a cash prize to be offered in connection with the music memory contest, the other $10 to apply on the record fund. Mrs. Spencer Robinson, Mrs. Frank Arnold and Mrs. John Legge were appointed a committee to secure the records.

The Parent-Teacher associations and other organizations co-operating in the project are doing fine work, according to Mrs. Mattison B. Jones, but more records are needed to make the contest a success. As soon as the amount needed to provide them is secured, particulars relative to the list, the prizes offered and the manner of conducting the contest will be published. Some of the schools have been working but have not the records they need and the aim is to have a sufficient number to enable all citizens to become familiar with the music selected.

THE HURSTS RETURN FROM HONEYMOON

Mrs. A. H. Montgomery of South Central avenue, who is recuperating from an illness, was made happy Tuesday by the arrival of her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Robert Hurst, who have just returned from their wedding trip to Philadelphia, where they visited Mr. Hurst's relatives. On the return journey they made stops at Niagara Falls, Chicago and Denver, and visited the grandmother of the bride, Mrs. J. G. Taylor, in Lancaster, Wis. Mrs. Taylor is the worthy grand chaplain for the world of the order of the Eastern Star, and is a past worthy matron of the state. She is, therefore, a woman of considerable importance in O. E. S. circles.

The young people will be guests of Mrs. Montgomery and of the parents of Mr. Hurst in Walnut Park until they decide where they want to locate their permanent home. Mrs. Montgomery is, of course, hoping the choice will be Glendale.

BOY SCOUTS ARE TWELVE YEARS OLD TODAY

Celebration of Anniversary to Continue All This Week

This is the twelfth birthday of the Boy Scouts of America, incorporated February 8, 1910, chartered by congress June 15, 1916; 530,000 boys and men are today enrolled as members. More than 2,000,000 boys have been committed to the following obligation during the last 12 years:

The Scout Oath

On my honor I will do my best to do my duty to God and my country, and to obey the Scout law; to help other people at all times; to keep myself physically strong, mentally awake, and morally straight.

The Scout Law

1.—A scout is Trustworthy. A scout's honor is to be trusted. If he were to violate his honor by telling a lie, or by cheating, or by not doing exactly a given task, when trusted on his honor, he may be directed to hand over his scout badge.

2.—A Scout is Loyal. He is loyal to all to whom loyalty is due; his scout leader, his home, and parents and country.

3—A Scout is Helpful. He must be prepared at any time to save life, help injured persons, and share the home duties. He must do at least one good turn to somebody every day.

4—A Scout is Friendly. He is a friend to all and a brother to every other scout.

5—A Scout is Courteous. He is polite to all, especially to women, children, old people, and the weak and helpless. He must not take pay for being helpful or courteous.

6—A Scout is Kind. He is a friend to animals. He will not kill nor hurt any living creature needlessly, but will strive to save and protect all harmless life.

7—A Scout is Obedient. He obeys his parents, scout-master, patrol leader, and all other duly constituted authorities.

8—A Scout is Cheerful. He smiles whenever he can. His obedience to orders is prompt and cheery. He never shirks nor grumbles at hardship.

9—A Scout is Thrifty. He does not wantonly destroy property. He works faithfully, wastes nothing, and makes the best use of his opportunities. He saves his money so that he may pay his own way, be generous to those in need, and helpful to worthy objects. He may work for pay but must not receive tips for courtesies or good turns.

10—A Scout is Brave. He has the courage to face danger in spite of fear, and to stand up for the right against the coaxings of friends or the jeers or threats of enemies, and defeat does not down him.

11—A Scout is Clean. He keeps clean in body and thought, stands for clean speech, clean sport, clean habits, and travels with a clean crowd.

12—A Scout is Reverent. He is reverent toward God. He is faithful in his religious duties, and respects the convictions of others in matters of custom and religion.

New Scout Membership

From the start of the movement, the President of the United States has been the honorary president of the Boy Scouts of America. President Taft, President Wilson and President Harding, accepted this post with great cordiality. Because of his distinguished services to our country through work for boys, Hon. W. G. McAdoo was made honorary vice-president, a post also held by Daniel Carter Beard.

Now the idea is spreading of creating honorary Tenderfoot Scouts, getting away from officialdom into the ranks. Not long ago the New York state governor, Nathan I. Miller, publicly took the Scout Oath and Law in the presence of the members of the Albany local council, B. S. A., and Albany scouts of the state capitol. Governor Smith had done the same thing before. A number of mayors have also been received as honorary members in the same way. Last week Mayor Cryer of Los Angeles took the south oath publicly and only last Monday Governor Stephens took the oath and was made an honorary Tenderfoot Scout at Pasadena. The idea has become popular and it is expected that several thousand honorary tenderfoot scouts, including many of our governors, will "join up" this anniversary week.

UNION ASKS FOR SCHOOL WORK

Mr. Thompson, president of the local carpenters' union, and Mr. vans of the same organization, appeared before the board with a request that it favor Glendale mechanics and laborers in its constructive work on school buildings. In response to the request the board voted to do so as far as possible, also to favor local dealers in materials as far as possible.

Mr. White was instructed to invite the advisory committee of nineteen to be present at a meeting of the board to be held February 21.

Quite a grist of business came before the board of education at its meeting Tuesday night at Intermediate school.

To provide for extra instruction needed the board voted to employ Mrs. Ethel Rogers Baker for an additional day in the teaching of domestic science and to employ James Bailie for two days per week in the manual training department.

Bids on the Acacia avenue school building were received and were referred to the building committee —Mr. Hibben and Mrs. Barton— for review and report at a later meeting.

Superintendent White reported that the papers in connection with the purchase of the Ellsperman property, the Milford street lots and the Henning property, were in escrow, and he was instructed to put the papers for Turck property in escrow.

PUT STOMACH IN FINE CONDITION

Says Indigestion Results from an Excess of Hydrochloric Acid.

Undigested food delayed in the stomach decays, or rather, ferments the same as food left in the open air, says a noted authority. He also tells us that Indigestion is caused by Hyper-acidity, meaning, there is an excess of hydro-chloric acid in the stomach which prevents complete digestion and starts food fermentation. Thus everything eaten sours in the stomach much like garbage sours in a can, forming acrid fluids and gases which inflate the stomach like a toy balloon. Then we feel a heavy, lumpy misery in the chest, we belch up gas, we eructate sour food or have heart-burn, flatulence, water-brash or nausea.

He tells us to lay aside all digestive aids and instead, get from any pharmacy four ounces of Jad Salts and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast and drink while it is effervescing and furthermore, to continue this for a week. While relief follows the first dose, it is important to neutralize the acidity, remove the gas-making mass, start the liver, stimulate the kidneys and thus promote a free flow of pure digestive juices. Jad Salts is inexpensive and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia and sodium phosphate. This harmless salts is used by thousands of people for stomach trouble with excellent results.—Adv.

DIRECTOR'S LOVE LETTERS FOUND

in my spare time I'd darn your socks.

"I'd go to my room and put on something soft and flowing, then I'd lie on the couch and wait for you. I might fall asleep, for a fire always makes me drowsy—then I'd wake up and find two strong arms around me and two dear lips pressed on mine in a long, sweet kiss——"

The concluding paragraph of this letter is deleted on instructions from the police department.

A new figure was drawn within the scope of investigation in the William D. Taylor murder case today when operatives of the district attorney's office questioned one of the biggest independent figures in the motion picture business, it was learned by the United Press.

This man, recently divorced, was said to have been madly in love with an actress who apparently held Taylor in higher esteem than she did the man now being questioned.

He is reported to have proposed marriage on numerous occasions to the actress, whose silken nightgown police detectives assert they found in Taylor's home shortly after he was shot.

Miss Mabel Normand was under the care of specialists today and was on the verge of a nervous collapse.

Mary Miles Minter has also suffered a complete nervous collapse and is in serious condition, according to an unverified report here today.

A search was on today for more love letters, believed to have been written to Taylor by movie actresses and which are reported to have disappeared from his home. A friend, explaining the letter written by Miss Minter to Taylor, said: "The letter merely expressed the affection of a temperamental girl for the man who represented to her the finest in the profession."

"Miss Normand has not received the missing packet of letters."

This statement by the Mack Sennett studios today disposed of a rumor that the letters and telegrams written by Mabel Normand to William D. Taylor mysteriously missing since the director's tragic death, had been returned to her during the night. "The letters are not in the hands of the police," Captain D. L. Adams said today. "Some private individual connected with this case from an angle which would undoubtedly be interesting to us, is holding them."

CHRISTIAN CIRCLE ENTERTAINS GIRLS

The meeting of the Christian Circle club at the Baptist church Tuesday evening was marked by the usual enthusiasm and pep, covers being laid for 91 girls at the 6 o'clock supper, served by ladies of the Christian church.

At the business session which preceded the study hour, plans were discussed for a fathers and daughters' night," to be held February 21.

A roll call of the churches was taken and it was found that the Christian church led in numbers present.

GERMAN STRIKE ENDS

BERLIN, Feb. 8.—Socialist members of the German government have forced a final compromise with the striking railroad workers and the walkout, which paralyzed Germany, came to a definite end today. City electrical, water and transportation workers also agreed to return to work, and the German capital, after two terrible days without light or water, was struggling back to normal.

MADISON, Wis., Feb. 8.—The University of Wisconsin athletic board has declined invitations of the University of California to participate in a post-season track and field meet at Berkeley, April 15.

WHEN I STOPPED AT THE ART NEEDLE SHOP, 209 East Broadway, for my lesson in knitting, I was simply amazed at the progress the other ladies were making with their pretty sweaters and caps. My dear, you would enjoy those classes, held every Tuesday and Friday, from 10 to 12 and from 2 to 4. They teach crocheting, as well as knitting, bead bag making, the making of lamp shades and all expert handwork!

OH! MY DEAR, you'll simply love to have your bedroom furnished with that exquisite walnut bedroom suite that is being displayed at the ENTERPRISE FURNITURE CO., 216 East Broadway! It is a beautiful three-piece set—comprising an inviting bed, a lovely bureau and the most attractive dressing table imaginable! 'Twould be just a joy to go to bed at night in a room so luxuriously furnished! And, the beauty of it is, that although the furniture is wonderful, the price is surprisingly low! Stop in and see it!

SOMETHING THAT IS ABSOlutely new and entirely different in Glendale, I found at the FANCY BAKERY, 142 North Brand Blvd., today. Can't you guess?—it's the Spinach Bread! Yes, primarily a wonderful health bread, it is also delicious and excellent for those whose health is perfect! But you could never imagine the ingredients. It is made of walnuts, spinach, oatmeal, whole wheat and milk! A queer combination, you say? Yes, but how healthful! The Fancy Bakery is the exclusive agent here in Glendale for this new product, which sells for 25 cents a loaf. Buy a loaf and take home to try—I know you'll be back for more!

And, another dainty that I've discovered at the Fancy Bakery is the wonderful Holland Dutch Sugar Bread — purely a Dutch novelty, but oh! how good! Mr. Walsma uses his own recipe for it, comprising cinnamon, citron and loaf sugar. It is baked fresh every day—and sells for only 20 cents per loaf!

OH! MY, what shall I do with that linoleum on the kitchen floor?" I heard a friend say the other day. But you see, she hadn't bought the best, and, of course, it wouldn't wear any length of time. That's why I advised her to drop in at LEWIS C. DAVIS' factory and salesroom at 417 East Broadway, for he carries an excellent quality of linoleum—and in unique and attractive designs. Mr. Davis is also known as a manufacturer of excellent window shades!

I LOST MY HEART to the adorable Valentines and Valentine decoration and favors being shown at BOTT'S BOOK STORE—113 South Brand boulevard—today! They carry a full line of the most beautiful and distinctive greetings the season suggests—just the message for old friends or new—sweetheart or sister—and, yes, even for Mother and Father. Do stop in at Bott's and make your selection early!

I'M SIMPLY AMAZED as I wend my way through the shops and stores of Glendale—at the exceptional values offered daily! Why, my dear, it stands to reason that with less "overhead expense" — these merchants can afford to sell their goods at a closer margin than their larger competitors in the near-by city! And, too, bear in mind that the merchandise offered here has been selected by men primarily interested in catering to your wants—in finding just this or that specialty that will tend to make your homes more comfortable and more livable! They are in Glendale for Glendale and for YOU—therefore it is for you to come with me and at least SHOP IN GLENDALE—then you'll surely BUY IT AT HOME!

TO GUARANTEE old carpets made to look like new, is a pretty strong statement, but I know that the GLENDALE CARPET AND MATTRESS WORKS, of 1411 South San Fernando Road, will absolutely renovate those old rugs and carpets—and return them in such excellent shape that you'll hardly know them! If you're thinking of changing the parlor rug into the dining room—they'll re-sew it to fit the space, using the best parts and turning out altogether a really good-looking carpet! Call Glendale 1928 and they'll call and appraise the work.

IF YOU ARE SUFFERING from indigestion, why not try drinking a glass of the famous White Rose Spring Water before and after your meals? Just call the INDEPENDENT ICE CO., of 106 East California Ave., phone Glendale 217, and order a bottle—TODAY!

MRS. BILLIG OF THE BROADWAY BEAUTY PARLOR, 214 East Broadway, was telling me today of the advantages to be obtained in the use of Hair-A-Gain Shampoo. It is her experience that Hair-A-Gain stimulates the tissues of the scalp and increases the blood supply! This will, of course, make the hair grow luxuriantly again! Just drop in at her shop, on the second floor of the building at 214 East Broadway, and ask her about Hair-A-Gain and Mask O' Uth—they'll both interest you. And, did you know that the color of your hair can be changed so expertly that it positively cannot be detected? Yes, if Mrs. Billig does the work!

AND HERE, MY DEAR, is an offer unique! Just take a piece or two from your Monday's washing down to the GLENDALE ELECTRIC CO. next time you go downtown, and ask Miss Weaver, who is there demonstrating the Thor Washer and Ironer, to show you how expertly the Thor will do the work! She will be glad to demonstrate to you the excellent features of her machine at any time during the week, and it is, without question, a demonstration thoroughly worth while, for it will prove to you with how little effort the general house work, or at least those parts which are the most tiring, can be done when one is using the perfected electric appliances!

"WILL YOU BE MY VALENTINE?" Could this age-old question be more charmingly expressed than in one's own picture? GLENN R. DOLBERG of 206½ West Broadway is an artist in his line—that of photographing one's very character and personality! If you call Glendale 2187 today and make an appointment for a sitting they'll be finished in time for St. Valentine's Day! Mr. Dolberg takes photographs of unexcelled quality to fit every pocketbook!

YOU WILL NO DOUBT BE interested in knowing that the famous Patton's Auto Gloss Varnish, which you've seen so extensively advertised in the Saturday Evening Post this month, is being sold at STEVEN'S PAINT STORE at 219½ East Broadway. Why not paint your car over yourself? Mr. Stevens will tell you of instances in which this famous auto gloss has proven itself to be absolutely above reproach—when a machine is either retouched or entirely refinished! It is easily applied, and, as it sets slowly, may be brushed evenly, leaving a perfectly smooth, brilliant finish. The colors are all durable and dry with a brilliant lustre. Make it a point to ask Mr. Stevens about Patton's Auto Gloss.

OF COURSE YOU'RE PLANNING a wonderful St. Valentine's Party! But how about the refreshments? I've discovered just the place to order your refreshments—the ELITE SWEET SHOP of 134 South Brand boulevard! Just stop in and tell Mrs. Bigens of your table decorations and she'll have a wonderful cake baked and frosted in the colors you're using. Or, you might serve individual heart-shaped cakes and colored ice-cream in individual heart or Cupid molds! Then there's the candy—it should most certainly express the spirit of the season—and how better than candied hearts? Your party is sure to be a success if you leave the refreshments entirely in the hands of Mrs. Bigens—for she'll plan the most novel and distinctive dainties imaginable!

SURELY the baby's buggy needs re-tiring—but where to take it? Mr. Pfeifer of the WM. PFEIFER CYCLE CO., 110 South Maryland avenue, sells Calcutt's Quick Repair Tire—a dandy tire that may be put on in just a jiffy—while you wait. Although Pfeifer's is "The Home of Good Bicycles" they also specialize in re-tiring go-carts and baby carriages. Stop in next time you're down town!

HOW THE SEALS FISHED FOR HAM

By JOHN BARTON

(Copyright, 1921, by Associated Newspapers)

"Did Ham catch any fish?" breathed Ripple Beaver. She was 'most scared to speak out loud for fear she'd interrupt Dr. Muskrat, and he'd forget what he was telling them. She never caught on that the doctor always paused in the most exciting parts just to make some one ask another question. "Did Ham catch any fish?"

"Nope! You see the fish had been living pretty high. Bugs? Why they'd turn up their noses at one. But those pesky seagulls, who'll eat anything ,whether they want it or not, pounced on it. And one of them got that bear-claw fishhook in his throat. You never heard such flapping and choking! Whatever that bird did, all the others did it, too, 'cause that's the way with them. And there were a whole lot of them because there are so many different kinds of gulls.

"Well, of course, Shem heard what was going on (he was Mister Noah's bossy oldest son) and then there were ructions. Shem said there had to be discipline aboard the ark, and Ham was the one to begin disciplining. He gave Ham such a terrible beating with a rope's end that the poor seals cried real tears, they felt so sorry for him."

"But what happened to the gull?" asked the Widow Squirrel. "Did he die, or did they get the fishhook out again?"

"Neither. He lived, all right enough, because it takes more than that to kill a gull. But he went on flopping and choking whenever it bothered him, and the others went on imitating him, and their fledglings caught the trick from them. They still do it, to this very day, as you'll see if you watch them."

"And the seals?" asked Ripple.

"And one of them got that bear-claw fishhook in his throat."

"Oh; the poor hungry seals went on chewing grass and gulping it down between sobs, but it didn't satisfy them. Shem was mad enough to have thrashed them, too, only Mister Noah wouldn't let him. So poor Ham snuggled down between them, where Shem couldn't hit him, and they had quite a nice time feeling sorry for each other.

"That was the day the sun came out. The Flood was all over whitecaps because there was such a wind blowing. But all the fish came up in the calm water on the lee side of the ark to toast their shiny sides. And the seals didn't take them for white-caps. No, indeed! Flop, flop! In they dove and went to feasting. By and by one of them called out to Ham: "Hey, there, Brother Ham! Want some?'

"Want some? Mc-m! I should say he did. 'Specially as the Ark was running pretty short of provisions by that time. But Shem was so tarnation angry because the seals didn't catch any for him, he said: 'Just for that you'll stay where you are! I won't take you back on board again!'"

NEXT STORY: HOW THE SEALS FOUND THE OTHER ARK.

NEW TRACT IS PLACED ON SALE

The Cunningham Vista Acres is one of the latest tracts to be placed on the market. It is located on Sixth street just west of Pacific, this being one of the finest residential sections in all Glendale. Every lot in this tract is high and sightly. It is an exclusive residential district, the building restriction being $5000.

The lots in the tract are 72 by 203 feet in size, and all of them are covered with full-bearing fruit trees. One of the pleasing features about these lots is the price, $2500, one-fourth of which is payable in cash, the remainder being in monthly installments of $25 each. This price includes everything in the way of street work, such as graded and oiled-screened rocked streets, curbing, sidewalk, etc. There is also electricity, gas, water, telephone, etc. This tract is being handled by Kelly & Van Arsdol, 106 West Colorado street, exclusive agents.

SUBDIVIDERS URGE LAND PURCHASES

"Start your fortune now," says Hamlin & Hepburn, subdividers of the popular Fairview tract. "The largest fortunes in this country have been built up by investments in real estate."

It is seldom that a tract is put on the market in Southern California where better value is offered than right in the Fairview tract. Lots in this tract are now being sold for as low as $517.75. Fifty dollars down and $10 per month does the trick. The subdividers claim that the lots in the tract will double in value in the next two years.

A GOOD HOME ON A GOOD STREET
There are many good long, short and wide streets in Glendale. They all have some good homes on them. But there is one good long wide street that has all good homes on it. That street is Central Ave.
Would you like to own on N. Central Ave., a nice 5-room bungalow, close in, with a pretty lawn with pretty shrubs and flowers and with many kinds of bearing fruit trees in the back yard?
Circumstances compells me to make a quick move north and this bungalow, with or without the furniture, will be sold at a sacrifice price. Local arrangements will be made for satisfactory cash and monthly payments.
The sacrifice price will not permit listing, and paying an agent's commission, nor is it convenient to show the property except by appointment. If you are a bona fide buyer I will be pleased to make an appointment with you.

Fashions for Americans

The frock shown in the sketch, for immediate or early spring wear, is made of a soft satin or pliable silk crepe in black, and trimmed with cornflower blue chiffon, embroidered in various contrasting colors. The fitted waist, slightly draped so as not to appear really tight, and a moderately wide gathered skirt are featured in this frock. The band of chiffon is used across the front of the skirt only, trimming the little straight apron overskirt. The side and back sections are straight and plain. This dress is youthful and smart, and very simple.

Taffeta is to play its usual strong role in the showing of early spring frocks, both for street and evening wear. When taffeta is used bouffant lines are very much favored, especially in dresses for young and slim figures. All sorts of clever little trimming touches appear, one navy taffeta frock recently seen being trimmed with narrow folded pieces of bright red taffeta set around the neck and sleeves, which were short and slashed, rick-rack braid fashion. A lattice work band of the red taffeta strips trimmed the skirt, being set in about eight or ten inches above the hem.

Very narrow soutache braid in

Dress of Satin or Crepe for Mid-season or Early Spring

self or contrasting color is used effectively to trim many of the new frocks of soft silk crepe and taffeta. One of the interesting features of spring and mid-season dresses is the leaning to gay printed silks. Crepes lead, and the designs most favored are small. Floral and geometrical designs, as well as many interesting stripes, are seen.

Reasonably wide skirts, modestly long, seem to be meeting with general approval, and while some dresses show the fitted bodice and normal waist line, such as the one featured in the sketch, the low waist line is by all odds the most approved one for the season immediately ahead.

A WEAK SPINE
A deformed, rigid, and out of shape spine, is the cause of many internal afflictions. It is manifested by wry neck, unevenly drooped shoulders, protruding shoulder blade, stooping and sway back, one high hip seemingly due to a short leg; even difficulties of the lower limbs, joints, and feet are due to such weakness; a drawing pain in the back, hip and thighs is symtomatic. BUSINESS WOMEN'S CLUB IS APPROVED

A meeting of the executive council of the Business and Professional Women's club was held Tuesday evening at club headquarters, 209½ South Brand boulevard, at which Mrs. Margaret Biggs, president; Miss Neva Veysey, secretary; Dr. Caroline Payne Jackman, treasurer; Dr. Laura Brown, vice-president; Miss Margaret Cross, Mrs. Gacer Yarborough, Mrs. E. P. Beck and Miss E. G. Gibbs, were present.

Reports from various committees were submitted and approved, the report of the house committee, responsible for the establishment and maintenance of the club headquarters, being especially encouraging as it showed that the project is a success and is meeting with the patronage and financial support of business women of the city.

Several plans for the financial benefit of the club were proposed by members of the house committee, were discussed and approved by the council and will be announced later.

An amendment to the constitution making the chairman of the house committee a member of the executive council was submitted by Miss Cross and endorsed by the council and will be submitted to the club at its regular meeting next Tuesday evening at club headquarters.

The council also voted to assume as a club obligation the rest room and luncheon established by the house committee and to be financially responsible for it.

A number of candidates who have applied for membership were reported with a list of others in prospect.

Members of the vocational and guidance bureau reported about 30 applications for positions on file, some of whom have been placed, with prospects for locating others. The committee announced that applicants for domestic service and calls for domestic help were being referred to the Glendale welfare bureau in the city hall, under Mrs. E. D. Yard and Mrs. Sinclair, who are specializing in that line of work.

All in all it was a meeting calculated to greatly encourage the executive council which has had the brief responsibility of enterprises undertaken by the club.

It is hoped that every member will be present at the regular meeting of the full club to be held next Tuesday night, when a general report will be submitted.

'ALL OUT FOR LONG BEACH' IS C. OF C. CALL

Plan to Send Representative Gathering Beach Exposition

The Glendale chamber of commerce is planning to send a large delegation to Long Beach on Friday to attend the Industrial exposition at that city. Banners for automobiles will be furnished by the chamber of commerce and individual badges with the newly adopted Glendale slogan: "Glendale—the Fastest Growing City in America," will be supplied to every one attending.

It is planned to have the Glendale delegation leave from the chamber of commerce promptly at 4 p. m. on that day in order to reach the beach city in time for a 6 o'clock dinner at the chamber of commerce.

Every one who has a machine and is willing to use it on that night is requested to notify J. M. Rhoades, secretary of the chamber of commerce, as soon as possible. Transportation will be arranged for those who have no machine, but want to attend the exposition, if they will communicate with Mr. Rhoades.

Mr. Rhoades is planning a motorcade of at least 25 machines, leaving Glendale for Long Beach. This motorcade will pass through the principal streets of Los Angeles and other cities, giving this city advertising.

BRUNSWICK SHOP HAS TRICK WINDOW

A window display that is attracting much attention is that of the Brunswick Shop, 126 South Brand boulevard, where a very clever display is being made to represent the new song hit, "Stealing." The Brunswick company in the east is offering a $50 prize for the most original and best window display for this song. Photos have been taken of the one in Glendale and have been forwarded to the eastern office.

The Glendale display shows a group of kewpie dolls, very attractively dressed in overalls and other working costumes, with revolvers in their hands. One may note the word "stealing" in any of their postures. They are carrying out furniture from a cute little California house and in one corner is a bride and groom, with the bride stealing the groom's first pay check. The window is a clever one and much credit is due the Glendale shop.

Broadway was beginning to line up along the curbs in anticipation of the arrival of one of the distinguished European war heroes coming here to participate in the limitation of armaments conference.

Some one approached a policeman standing at the side of the street, with the interrogation, "What's the crowd waiting for?"

"Don't you read the papers?" was the reply. "General Beatty is coming."

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS

Notice is hereby given that the Board of Education of the Glendale City School District of the County of Los Angeles, California, will receive sealed bids on or before 8 P.M. Thursday, February 16, 1922, at Board of Education Rooms, Wilson Avenue School, corner of Wilson and Kenwood Avenues, Glendale, California, at which time and place said bids will be opened and read in public:

For furnishing all required labor and materials for the construction, erection and completion of a one-story building for the Grandview School site, located on property bounded by Fifth Street on the North, Fourth Street on the South, Tustin on the West, and Roberta on the East, in accordance with Plans and Specifications prepared therefor by George M. Lindsey, Architect and Engineer, 127 West Broadway, Glendale, California. Bids will be received separately for each kind of work, as follows:

THE HEROINE

I think I see the school-room now, just as it was that day.
I think I hear the teacher speak in her crisp forceful way.
I look about me and I see the pupils all about
Above their slates with faces bent and problems to work out.
I recollect the day was warm and I had left my coat
Upon a hook out in the hall—of that please make a note,
For it becomes important when you know that my adored
Could see me, Oh, so plainly, as I went up to the board.

Yes, she could see me plainly, and the back of me, alas!
That such a thing for any boy could ever come to pass!
Two patches where I need not state, you'll understand it all,
And my protecting coat was hanging out there in the hall.
How clearly I remembered then the tragedy and shame
That nearly overwhelmed me when the teacher called my name.
How blushes tinged my cheek and brow and neck as my adored
Heard that roomful of titter as I stood there at the board.

Had I had Monte Cristo's wealth, I would have given it all
For that protecting coat of mine that hung there in the hall.
I wanted in my anguish in some chariot of cloud
To disappear forever, and the spirit that was proud
Broke like a straw within me; and the badges of my shame
That everybody tittered at I'm sure were red as flame.
And SHE—she must have seen them and 'twas then she must have known
I was a whited sepulchre whom once she loved alone.

And when the school was over and I went out in the hall
And put on my protecting coat and thought to end it all,
How well do I remember now she came to me as fair
And proud as any queen might be, and never seemed to care.
'Twas then I learned that woman's love will reach the grandest height,
And then for me the world became a glorious place and bright.
I think her age was nine or ten, and where now she may be
I do not know, but Oh that day how good she was to me!

SENSATIONAL FILM IS GLENDALE SHOW

The wonderful Universal-Jewel production, "The Fox," with Harry Carey, one of the best known actors on the screen today, will open at the Glendale theatre tonight. This picture, it is claimed, is the first super-western picture ever screened, and its leading star is acknowledged to be one of the leading western characters. This is a 7-part feature, which was filmed in the great Mojave desert, many months being occupied in "shooting" the various scenes.

In this picture hundreds of horses are used, among them being two troops of the famous Eleventh battalion, United States cavalry. There are also mountain camp scenes, sand storms, a typical western town and everything necessary to make this the big western production of the year.

Other attractions on the same program are Al St. John, the regent of acrobatic comedy, in his famous picture, "Fast and Furious."

LA CRESCENTA NEWS AND NOTES

LA CRESCENTA, Feb. 8.—The ladies of the Presbyterian church held an all day meeting last Friday at the home of Mrs. E. Burts. The morning was spent in sewing. After luncheon the monthly meeting of the missionary society convened. Officers were elected for the coming year. President, Mrs. L. A. Potter; vice-president, Mrs. B. Smith; secretary, Miss C. Bickle; treasurer, Mrs. W. Wise. The committee appointed to take charge of the Ladies' Aid work are Mesdames E. Stine, E. Burt and C. Wooley, Mrs. D. Wetherby, secretary and treasurer.

Charles Bishop has opened a meat market in connection with the Sears & Craft grocery on Los Angeles avenue.

The hospitable home of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Keifer of Sycamore avenue was the scene of one of the most delightful affairs of the past week, when Mr. ad Mrs. Kiefer entertained with a dancing party for their daughters, Misses Dorothy and Virginia Keifer, last Saturday evening. There were some 60 guests present, many from Los Angeles and Glendale.

Mrs. C. E. Culberson, chairman of the program committee of the La Crescenta Woman's club, announces a most interesting program for next Wednesday afternoon. The regular meeting of the club, when Mrs. Henrietta P. Capp, interior decorator for Barker Bros., will give a talk. The entetainment committee is issuing tickets for two card parties, Saturday, February 25 in the afternoon and evening at the school auditorium.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Davis of Glendale were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Glen Peck of Michigan avenue.

The many friends of F. K. Czerniski will be happy to know he is much improved and has the assurance of his physician that his eyesight will not be injured.

RALPH STORE GETS BIG RECEPTION

The first day of the grand opening of the Ralphs Grocery company's store on West Broadway yesterday was one great, continuous rush. The crowd started to gather at a very early hour in the morning and by 11 o'clock the store was filled to overflowing. From that time on as soon as one person would make his or her exit another would step in line, this resulting in a "capacity house" throughout the entire day.

In the early morning hours the grocery department seemed to be getting the largest percentage of the patronage, but as the hours wore away the market, the produce department and the bakery goods section, gradually came into their own.

The opening of this store is being continued today and tomorrow. This morning was a repetition of yesterday, so far as the crowds are concerned. All this speaks well for patronage to be given this company now that it is located within the city.

"We are more than pleased with the way the people of Glendale are attending our opening," said the manager of the store this morning. "The beginning of our opening yesterday was a revelation to us. No store that we have ever opened has received such an immediate and wonderful response on the part of the people as the Glendale store is receiving. For this support and encouragement we are grateful."

PACKER USED CAR SALE CONTINUED

So successful was the used car sale put on by the Packer Auto company, corner Colorado and Brand, the last three days of the week just ended, that it has been decided to continue it until February 11. When the final word is spoken next Saturday night it is expected that practically every used car on the lot and in the show rooms of this company will have been disposed of and will be furnishing enjoyment and be saving carfare for satisfied owners in Glendale.

During the days that the sale was on last week a number of sales were made, but the big "fireworks" did not start until Monday morning. More cars were sold Monday than in any one day of any sale ever conducted by this concern. This excessive demand continued throughout the entire day Tuesday and this morning. The reason for this unusual demand is that the cars which are being offered are above the average in quality and are priced very low.

SIERRA CLUB TO MEET SOUTH END

So few members of the Sierra club presented themselves for the meeting at the home of Edward Parratt in Sycamore canyon Tuesday night that it resolved itself into a committee for informal discussion of the cemetery problem. No business was transacted except that a vote was taken to be represented at the meeting of the South Glendale Improvement Association to be held tonight at the branch library building where the cemetery will be considered.

$161,000 REQUIRED FOR BURBANK'S HIGH SCHOOL

President Radcliff Estimates Requirements to Finish Building

BURBANK, Feb. 8.—There was an unusually large attendance at the Wednesday luncheon of the chamber of commerce. These luncheons served at the Elizabeth hotel are growing in attendance with every meeting. Live subjects of vital interest to Burbank are always discussed and this in addition to the excellent meal, draw an increasingly large attendance. The general topic at the last meeting was the schools of Burbank and their needs. This was well handled by J. D. Radcliff, president of the school board, Principals Moore and Collins and others.

In speaking of the needs of this city along school lines, Mr. Radcliff explained that the last bond issue of $161,000 would not be sufficient to complete the high school, building both wings and providing the gymnasium building and work shop, and that the matter of calling another election to vote bonds, was being considered. It is generally understood and all the speakers at the luncheon referred to the fact that even with the completion of the new high school, still more room will be needed and in a year or so needed very badly, and Mr. Radcliff proposed that bonds be issued to cover the expense of finishing the high school as urgent needs require and also to build three new buildings in three different sections of the city. He advocated the plan of voting the limit in the next school bond election, and said that under the law this would bring in about $100,000. In regard to the improvement of the grounds around the grammar school, he advanced the idea of erecting a fence a certain number of feet back from the sidewalk and along each side of the approach walk, and between the fence and walk, make a lawn. This would still leave very good space for a play ground.

Walter T. Haines of Glendale of the California Finance and Housing Company, presented F. H. Wiswell who is the Burbank representative of the company. Mr. Haines urged that those who expected to build or would like to, see Mr. Wiswell, as their proposition permitted many to build who could not otherwise do so.

Mr. Colburn then spoke of the need that Burbank has for more homes. He said people should not be urged to come here and go into business in any line which was already well represented, but more people and homes were needed in this city.

MR. ATCHISON HAS RETURNED TO HOME

Burbank Police Welcome With Their Open Arms

BURBANK, Feb. 7.—"It is to laugh" at the Burbank police department because it "fell" so hard for the story of J. B. Atchison, one of the inmates of the city's steel-barred hotel. Mr. Atchison, born in Iowa and 51 years of age, according to his statement, was gathered into the fold on January 24. He was immediately engaged in the street improvement department, although not as overseer, and he also did considerable carpentering for the city and it is said his work in this line was exceptionally good and he offered the information that he was a real carpenter. After he had been engaged thus for a few days he told the police officials that he had money coming to him at Bakersfield and Fresno, and he would like to go and get it and then, he said, return to Burbank and enter the building and contracting business. As a result of this charming bit of fiction, the police department softened and permitted Mr. Atchison to depart on January 31, to go after his money. About two days later the gentleman again made his appearance at the city hall, shook hands with Judge Avery and the members of the police force and was happy, very happy, and told them how glad he was to see them and to be back in their midst again; he was so generous and goodnatured that he wanted to give one of his former jailmates some Copenhagen snuff which he had secured "while at Bakersfield and Fresno." In fact, as one of the department put it, he was "stewed worse than a prune." Now he once more is a guest at the city's steel-barred hotel and the police department is accepting the laugh.

SOUTH GLENDALE CALLED TO MEET

A special called meeting of the South Glendale Improvement Association of which Stuart Street is president and Mrs. E. V. Bacon secretary, has been called for tonight at the branch library building at Brand and Los Feliz road to discuss the cemetery problem. Delegates from the Sierra club in Sycamore canyon will also be present to participate in the discussion and join in any action which may be taken.

E. O. Merrick of South Louise street, who is located with the Stanford Real Estate company, went home sick on Tuesday morning.

BURBANK STREET IMPROVEMENTS CONSIDERED

Highways Up for Discussion at Trustees Meeting

BURBANK, Feb. 8.—The time and attention of the city board of trustees at their last meeting was largely taken up with street matters. A petition signed by T. W. Whealy and 15 others was presented to the board to open and grade Cedar avenue from Fourth to Sixth streets; to establish a grade and do work on Fifth street, and also to open and grade Fourth street between Providencia and Cedar avenues. The matter was referred to the street committee.

A petition signed by E. S. White and 67 others, for surfacing and grading Pioneer avenue from Magnolia to Olive avenues, was offered to the board. This was also referred to the street committee and city engineer.

L. D. Johnson and 35 others signed a petition which was presented to the board, asking that Santa Anita avenue between Fourth and Eighth streets be improved. The residents want the street oil tamped and cement gutters and sidewalks made. This matter was turned over to the city engineer for checking up.

Mr. Phillippi appeared before the board asking if the grade of a street could be changed when that street was under contract for improvement, the grade having been established. He referred especially to the improvement of Tenth street and spoke of the damage which has been done by flood waters. Regarding the proposed improvement of Eleventh street it was stated that the entire board had looked over the work and thought it should be done and that the city would be willing to give lots necessary for the continuation and do more than the city's share in the improvement. Tavener Young was before the board on the above named matter and it was decided that all parties who were interested in this question should meet with the board and discuss it.

The street committee reported that dirt on Varney street could be moved for 30 cents per cubic yard.

Mr. Zwalina told the board that a portion of the street improvement on Eleventh street was defective and requested that it be inspected before being accepted.

of a curb and gutter on Eleventh

BURBANK, Feb. 7.—"It is to street to preserve the new improvement to his property, and the board agreed to do all it could to help in the matter.

The city clerk was instructed to write to J. T. Bates in regard to the building restrictions on the rear of lots on a subdivision, a map for which was presented to the board.

Further time was allowed the committee on the matter of providing heat for the prisoners in the city jail.

President Blanchard of the board was absent and H. W. Rouscup presided.

Building permits issued by H. C. Bond in the past few days are as follows:

M. T. Plummer, chicken house, 328 Central avenue, $200.

J. E. Courtney, one-story, two-room frame addition, 519 East Flower street, $500.

G. E. Hain, frame garage, 925 Providencia avenue, $200.

F. A. Conrad, who was formerly with Fish & Tarr, Glendale Chevrolet agency, 510 East Broadway, is now connected with the Cooley Motors company, 212 South Brand boulevard, agent for the Packard and Durant automobiles.

SULPHUR CLEARS ROUGH, RED SKIN

Face, Neck and Arms Easily Made Smooth, Says Specialist

Any breaking out of the skin, even fiery, itching eczema, can be quickly overcome by applying a little Mentho-Sulphur, declares a noted skin specialist. Because of its germ destroying properties, this sulphur preparation begins at once to soothe irritated skin and heal eruptions such as rash, pimples and ring worm.

It seldom fails to remove the torment and disfigurement, and you do not have to wait for relief from embarrassment. Improvement quickly shows. Sufferers from skin trouble should obtain a small jar of Mentho-Sulphur from any good druggist and use it like cold cream. —Adv.
